Hon. T. C. Davis Succumbs To Sudden Heart Attack

Ex-Ambassador Was Leader Here

All Canada today mourned the loss of Hon. Thomas Clayton Davis, a great national figure and resident of Victoria, who died early this morning in Vancouver apparently from a heart attack.

Tributes from far and wide bear testimony to his value to the nation.

Mr. Davis, who was 70 last Sept. 6, died suddenly at the home of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Buckerfield, in Vancouver. He flew there from Victoria Wednesday afternoon and developed an illness en route.

Mrs. Davis, who had remained at their residence at 3605 Cadboro Bay, flew to Vancouver Wednesday night and was with her husband when he died.

It is understood he will be buried in his home town of Prince Albert, Sask.

Mr. Davis had a distinguished career as diplomat, jurist and politician, and his energies and abilities extended over many other fields of public service.

He won distinction as Canadian ambassador to China, West Germany and Japan—his last diplomatic post which he served from June, 1954 to 1957. He then retired to live in Victoria but continued to take an active part in B.C. affairs.

Helping University Fund Drive

Just recently he plunged eagerly into the University of Victoria Building Fund drive and was appointed honorary chairman of the corporations division.

In this capacity he contacted persons and organizations all over Canada with a view to obtaining donations towards the $2,500,000 needed for the conversion of Victoria College into the University of Victoria.

Many of his friends believe that, if he had taken life more easily after his retirement, he would have lived longer.

But he could never resist a good cause.

'Complained About Sharp Pain'

The Times telephoned its editor in Ottawa this morning and gave Mr. Hutchison first news of Mr. Davis' death.

"This is terrible," the editor said. "Really, it makes me feel quite ill."

"And yet — we had some forewarning."

"When we got to the airport Tommy complained about a sharp pain between his shoulder blades. I suggested that he had some indigestion, and that it would go away."

"We sat together on the plane and he kept complaining of the pain all the way across to Vancouver.

"He was met by friends at Vancouver airport. We told him to take care of himself, shook hands, and bade him goodbye."

"Both Dot (Mrs. Hutchison) and I were worried about his condition. I recall saying to her: 'I don't like the sound of this.'"

Mr. Hutchison added his tribute to those of many public men who praised Mr. Davis' worth as friend and distinguished citizen.

Career Was 'Night and Day Job'

On Jan. 31, 1958, in an address to the English-speaking Union of this city, Mr. Davis said that Canada held "a unique position of respect and authority all over the world."

Reviewing his ambassadorial career, he described it as a "night-and-day job."

He described Australia as "lovely and amazing," praised the Chinese as having "an exceptionally fine sense of humor" and described Peking as "one of the finest cities in the world"; and of Japan, said: "It is a democracy today. In any future conflict it would be on our side."

The former ambassador also had a kind word to say about diplomatic receptions and cocktail parties, which he said "provided a useful means of meeting a lot of new people."

Of Irish-Canadian descent, Mr. Davis first entered politics in Prince Albert, where he was born on Sept. 6, 1889. He served as alderman, then mayor of Prince Albert, and was later elected a Liberal member of the Saskatchewan legislature. He held cabinet posts in both the Gardiner and Patterson administrations.

He was appointed Justice of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal in 1939.

Mr. Davis entered the diplomatic field in 1942 when he was appointed Canadian high commissioner to Australia, a post he held until June, 1946.

First Envoy to West Germany

In November, 1946, he was named ambassador to China. Four years later he became head of the Canadian mission to the Allied High Command in West Germany.

In 1951, on the resumption of diplomatic relations, he was named the first Canadian ambassador to the government of West Germany. He held that post until his appointment as ambassador to Japan.

Prince Albert was no more than a frontier town when Mr.

Davis was born and he grew up among men who remembered fights with the Indians.

He attended Prince Albert schools and St. John's College, Winnipeg, then studied law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. Soon after 1914 he entered law practice in Prince Albert.

Mr. Davis was elected to the Saskatchewan legislature in 1925 and sat as a private member until February 1926 when

COINCIDENCE?

TALISMAN MISSED — PRIEST KILLED

MONTREAL (CP) — In stately Notre Dame Church, landmark of Montreal, a toy airplane has made irregular appearances for the last three or four years beneath the statue of the Blessed Virgin. Notre Dame is the parish church of the Sulpician Order. Whenever a member of the Sulpicians embarks on an air trip the tiny plane is placed in position for duration of the flight.

The flight plans of Rev. Guy Arbour of St. Johns, Que., a Sulpician returning to his professorship duties at a seminary near Bogota, Colombia, were not known. The toy plane was not beneath the statue.

Father Arbour was among 37 persons killed today in a plane crash at Kingston, Jamaica.

37 Perish, Nine Escape

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — A Colombian airliner bound from New York to Colombia buckled its landing gear and exploded in setting down at the Montego Bay airport early today, killing 37 of the 46 persons aboard including a Canadian Roman Catholic priest.

Airliner Toll Reaches 163 In 3 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — The plane crash today at Montego Bay, Jamaica, was the fourth for commercial aviation around the world in the first 21 days of 1960.

Three previous accidents took a total of 126 lives bringing the three-week total to 163.

The fast-growing series of air disasters began Jan. 6 when a National Airlines plane carried 34 persons to death near Bolivia, N.C. U.S. Congressional investigators expressed belief it was due to a bomb carried aboard by a passenger.

Last Monday a Capital Airlines Viscount plane plunged to the earth near Holdcroft, Va., killing 50.

On Tuesday a Scandinavian Caravelle jet liner crashed on a hill near Ankara, Turkey. Forty-two lives were lost.

CANADA PAYS TRIBUTE

'He Served His Country Well'

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in Ottawa joined with a worthwhile contribution to public men all over Canada in paying tribute to the late T. C. Davis.

Said Mr. Diefenbaker: "I am saddened to learn of the passing of Mr. Davis, who throughout his lifetime made Canada, first as mayor of Prince Albert, then as a minister in the government of Saskatchewan, during the war years as minister of national war services, and thereafter in the diplomatic service of this country.

Tommy Davis was a good citizen who served his country well."

Liberal leader Lester Pearson said:

"I am both shocked and grieved at the death of one of my oldest friends and colleagues in government service. He was my colleague for many years, and I knew something of the great value of his service to Canada. He was an

Reds Score Bull's-Eye In Pacific

MOSCOW (UPI) —

The Soviet Union announced today it fired a multi-stage super-rocket 7,766 miles to within a mile and a quarter of its target in the central Pacific testing grounds Wednesday night.

The rocket was launched from an undisclosed site within the vast Soviet land mass, in what the official Soviet news agency said was the first in a series of shots aimed at "realizing space flights toward the planets of the solar system."

The giant missile's last powered stage, travelling at a speed of 16,156 miles an hour, entered "the dense layers of the atmosphere at an altitude of 50 to 60 miles and subsequently disintegrated and partially burned up," the Tass announcement said.

TRACKED BY SHIPS

The nose cone of the last stage was tracked down into the water by specially equipped Soviet ships stationed in the area about 1,200 miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands.

"As a result of measurements it was established that the rocket fell less than two kilometers (1.243 miles) away from the predetermined point, which confirms the high precision of the rocket's guiding system," Tass said.

The U.S. has claimed accuracy of within two miles on the roughly 5,000-mile flights of its Atlas missile. But Soviet figures, if correct, would indicate the Kremlin's newest multi-stage rocket is not only more powerful but also more accurate than the American Atlas.

Tass said the big rocket followed "strictly the calculated trajectory" intended for it.

"The nose cone of the last stage of the rocket was tracked during its flight in the atmosphere, and its contact with the water was registered by the ships' radar, optical and acoustic installations," the Tass announcement said.

"The launching was carried out at exactly the designated time. The flight of the rocket as a whole and the functioning of all its stages corresponded with the outlined program."

"No dimensions of the big rocket were given. Neither did the Tass announcement specify whether the rocket was big enough to carry human beings."

First reports from the Pacific had suggested the rocket

WIRE BRIEFS

Bevan Holding Ground

LONDON (AP) — Aneurin Bevan, deputy leader of Britain's Labor party, was reported "still very ill" today but apparently holding his own after a sudden setback in his recovery from a major abdominal operation.

Train Crash Kills 5

SETTLE, England (AP) — The Glasgow-London Express and a local freight train collided near this Yorkshire community today, killing five persons and injuring eight others. First reports said the casualties were all passengers.

Lava Stream Halted

HONOLULU (AP) — A 10-foot deep stream of boiling and hissing lava from Kilauea volcano stopped abruptly Wednesday night at the outskirts of the tiny, deserted village of Kapoho—but a fiery finger headed for another hamlet on Hawaii Island.

LAUNCHING PAD from which huge Russian rocket was hurled one-third of the way around the world to target area in Pacific Ocean is believed located near the Aral and Caspian Seas. Estimated trajectory would carry it to spot west of Hawaiian Islands. (AP Wiremap)

PLANE 'VICTIM' CAUGHT

FBI Find Explosives In Mystery Man's Case

RUSSIA'S ROCKET AT A GLANCE

WHAT MOSCOW ANNOUNCED: The rocket travelled 7,766 miles and its nose cone hit within two kilometers (a mile and a quarter of the target). It travelled at about 16,156 miles an hour.

SIGNIFICANCE: The claimed range is more than 1½ times the airline distance from Moscow to Washington. At the claimed speed, a military missile could travel from Murmansk to Los Angeles (5,175 miles) in about 20 minutes. The claimed accuracy would put the hit within 25 New York blocks of the target.

WHAT MOSCOW DID NOT ANNOUNCE: The size of the rocket, the type of fuel, the number of stages, the point of launching, or whether the nose cone was recovered.

FIRST CORROBORATION OF CLAIM: The defence department in Washington said the Russian rocket apparently did fall within the impact area described by the U.S.S.R. on Jan. 8. Apparently the United States had tracked the missile. The crew of an Australian airliner also said it saw an explosion in the test area.

FIRST U.S. REACTION: It was noted that President Eisenhower declared this year that in 14 firings over distances of more than 5,000 miles, the American Atlas had hit on the average within two miles of the target.

HOW THE ATLAS COMPARES: Its designed range is about 6,300 statute miles. At least two shots have exceeded this.

Sahara A-Test Zone Closed Off by France

PARIS (UPI) — France today closed off its Sahara atomic bomb test zone to aerial flight for 12 hours, effective at 12:45 a.m. EST (9:45 PST) Friday. The announcement heralded the first of several expected trial runs on closing the test zone, but did not necessarily indicate that the actual bomb test itself was about to take place.

Informed sources in Paris had predicted that France will detonate its first atomic device in February, instead of March as originally planned.

The sources said the date was advanced because President Charles de Gaulle wants France to be a full-fledged nuclear power when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visits here March 15. Presently, only the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are members of the "nuclear club."

The test zone is centred near Reggane, 1,000 miles southwest of Algiers in the Sahara Desert of North Africa. It extends over an area more than twice the size of France.

Trade Included in Talks Between Kishi, John D.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Ministers Kishi of Japan and Diefenbaker of Canada, accompanied by their foreign ministers, today held what Mr. Diefenbaker described as a "general discussion of the international situation."

Less than an hour after his arrival from Washington in a Canadian government plane, Mr. Kishi entered Mr. Diefenbaker's office in the main Parliament Building for preliminary talks.

The meeting lasted about 45 minutes, 15 minutes longer than scheduled.

The Canadian Prime Minister told reporters later that they discussed the international situation generally and "the benefits that flow from mutual visits in alleviating world tensions."

Also covered were the Colombo Plan and what Mr. Diefenbaker referred to as "the need to support it and expand it to raise living standards in underdeveloped countries."

Both Canada and Japan are Colombo Plan members.

Another topic was "the desirability of expanding trade."

During an interview at the Japanese Embassy in Washington Wednesday night, Kishi called on Canada to increase purchases of Japanese goods.

But he added that he is aware of Canada's industrial problems and does not want to do anything that would upset Canadian markets.

"Yes, I am in favor of increasing trade between Japan and Canada," he said.

But Japan now is buying more from Canada than she is selling there. We would like to sell more to Canada in a way that would not conflict with Canadian industry."

All through his stay in Washington, Kishi emphasized Japan's vital need to export to live. In his interview, conducted through an interpreter, Kishi said he would like to increase trade even with Com-

ADENAUER VIOLATED LAW, CHARGES OFFICER

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — A Hamburg police officer swore out a complaint today against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer because he advocated on-the-spot thrashing for anti-semitic hoodlums.

The officer, Horst Schmidt, charged that Adenauer had called publicly for commission of an offense, violating a section of the West German criminal code. The Hamburg prosecutor's office said it would turn the case over to the prosecutor in Bonn the federal capital.

Before authorities can proceed with the case, Parliament must lift Adenauer's immunity as one of its members.

THIS WORLD OF OURS People and Things

(Times News Services)

COLUMBUS, Ga., — Wallace E. Evans, 23, paced the hospital corridor nervously until a smiling doctor appeared and broke the news: "You are the father of twin boys."

The six-foot, 200-pound father hit the floor in a dead faint. He broke his nose, cut his lip, sprained his back and knocked out a tooth. In a semi-conscious condition he was wheeled away for first aid, then was kept in hospital 24 hours for shock.

The twins and the mother were in fine condition Wednesday. The father, his wife said, is "feeling some better." He'd never fainted before.

LONDON — Charley Holland's short snooze during a television program led Wednesday to the breakup of two marriages.

It turned out that his wife, Eileen, 36, and their dinner guest, seated together, were not watching TV either.

Holland, 47, testified in divorce court that when he woke up, he found his wife and Edward Chad, 35, holding hands and "looking significantly into each other's eyes."

Mrs. Holland, mother of two sons, confessed she was having an affair with Chad.

Holland was granted a divorce on grounds of misconduct, Chad's 41-year-old wife, Norah, also obtained a decree.

NEWARK, N.J. — Magistrate Joseph F. Walsh fined himself $15 Wednesday night for driving through a red light.

"My wife agrees with you that I was wrong," he told the patrolman who had arrested him.

LONDON — Pretty Mrs. Russell Bennett won a divorce Wednesday after testifying her husband refused to protect her from the advances of his twin brother.

Mrs. Bennett, 25, told the court her brother-in-law, Kenneth, 31, repeatedly sought to force his attentions upon her. Mrs. Bennett said once when she complained to her husband about Kenneth, he replied: "He is my brother, I don't mind."

he entered the cabinet of Premier J. G. Gardiner.

He served successively as municipal affairs minister, provincial secretary and minister in charge of the bureau of labor and industries. In 1927 he became attorney general.

Mr. Davis sat in the Opposition for five years after the Liberal government was defeated in 1929, but became attorney general in 1934 when the Liberals were re-elected.

A tall spruce man with sharp eyes behind rimless spectacles, he sometimes said his hobby was travel. He became an enthusiastic air traveller and in the war years frequently travelled by plane both in Canada and Australia.

He represented Saskatchewan at the Coronation of King George VI in 1937 and his 60,000-word diary of experiences in a tour of the United Kingdom at that time was published by many Canadian newspapers.

Mr. Davis once said he was born a Liberal and would die a Liberal. But he said goodbye to politics when he became a judge. Friends said the strain of the years of drought and depression had damaged his health, but he showed no sign of it in his public life.

He was proud to call himself an Irish-Canadian. His great-grandfather was a surgeon-general of the British Army who went to Ireland on official duties and stayed there. His grandfather was a professor at Trinity College, Dublin, and his father, R. O. Davis, was a pioneer prairie lawyer.

Retirement of Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the chiefs of staff committee, was announced Wednesday in the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. No successor has yet been chosen.

munist China, among other countries.

As for Canada, the trade balance was entirely on Canada's side. Canada had built up a big surplus in Japanese trade. In the first 11 months of 1959, Canada's exports to Japan increased to $123,700,000 from $92,300,000 last year.

As an indication of the trade balance, Canadian imports from Japan totalled only $66,000,000 in the first eight months of 1959 compared with exports of $91,000,000.

RESTRICTIONS
Canada had agreed at Canada's wishes to impose voluntary restrictions on exports of textiles to Canada. Asked whether he would want such restrictions removed, Kishi replied:

"I do not think it is desirable to restrict certain specific commodities. But Japan does not intend to try to export goods to Canada in any way ignoring Canadian industries."

Mr. Diefenbaker was asked today, with reference to mutual visits by heads of government, whether there is a possibility he will visit Japan to return Prime Minister Kishi's visit to Ottawa.

He would not commit himself.

VARIED TOPICS
Mr. Diefenbaker said the international topics discussed included the forthcoming East-West summit conference, the United Nations, and nuclear testing.

"Japan holds the same views as we with regard to nuclear tests—that they should be ended," Mr. Diefenbaker said. He described the talks as preliminary to more detailed discussions to be held later in Mr. Kishi's visit.

Following the talks Mr. Kishi was driven to Government House where he paid his respects to Governor-General Vanier.

WARM THANKS

Premier Kishi arrived in the capital with a warm statement of thanks to this country for helping Japan find its place in the post-war family of nations.

Mr. Diefenbaker noted in welcoming the small, round-faced visitor that he was the first Japanese head of government ever to visit Canada.

Canada's prime minister referred to the "unusually close relations" that had grown up between Canada and Japan in the last few years, particularly in trade.

The 63-year-old Japanese premier, a member of Premier Tojo's cabinet during the Second World War, said in reply to Mr. Diefenbaker's welcome that Canada's constant support and assistance "did much to enable us to gain admission to the United Nations and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

Monkey Hurlled 9 Miles Into Space, Survives

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) — A little monkey named "Miss Sam" today survived a 48,900-foot rocket flight in rehearsal for human space travel.

The animal, a female, rode more than nine miles up in a model of the chamber that will carry the first mercury astronaut.

The capsule was separated from a "Little Joe" booster rocket by means of an escape mechanism designed to save the astronaut if something goes wrong at the launching.

With its 7½-pound passenger in a special compartment, the capsule was parachuted to the surface of the sea 12 miles off this Virginia eastern shore island.

Then the capsule was recovered by helicopter.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the animal appeared to be in good condition on the basis of preliminary examination made by remote control while the animal was still inside the capsule.

OPEN CAPSULE LATER

They said that it would be about two or three hours, however, before they could open the capsule and the 125-pound chamber in which the monkey rode.

It was announced that the Little Joe booster rocket which carried the capsule aloft rose to a height of 36,500 feet. At that point a smaller rocket mounted above the capsule was fired. The latter rocket boosted the capsule to its ultimate height of 48,900 feet.

The second rocket was part of the device intended to free an astronaut from the main vehicle in case of trouble.

Space agency officials said that on the basis of preliminary study it appeared the test was completely successful.

The main object of today's test was to test the escape mechanism under rigorous air load conditions.

might have missed the target area and been destroyed by Soviet scientists. Qantas airline Captain Robert A. Gray and his crew reported they saw a huge explosion in the area and concluded the rocket had been exploded.

Russia's announcement, however, said the "dummy" (presumably meaning nose cone and instrument capsule) hit the water intact. It said the last powered stage "disintegrated and partially burned up." This might account for the airliner's sighting.

Tass said the launching was the first in a series of shots "under the program of producing a more powerful ballistic multi-stage rocket for orbiting heavy earth satellites and for realizing space flights towards the planets of the solar system."

The Soviet news agency added that more tests were in the making.

The Soviet Union announced originally that it planned a test or tests in the central Pacific area between the Hawaiian and Marshall Islands in the period from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15.

The announcement added: "Tests of powerful ballistic multi-stage rockets will be con-

CCF Leader Warns Of Red Challenge

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA — The Canadian economic system and way of life are being challenged in an unprecedented fashion by the Soviet Union, Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, said Wednesday.

Mr. Argue said in the Commons Throne speech debate that the first thing that needs to be done in the face of this challenge is to make up a tremendous lag in production. The second was to stop wasting resources, both human and material.

He saw nothing in the speeches of Prime Minister Diefenbaker or Opposition leader Pearson to indicate they realize the gravity of the challenge.

Mr. Argue forecast that by the end of the 1960s there will be an end to the basic tenets of the Progressive Conservative and Liberal parties regarding the economic system and a free enterprise economy.

He opposed nationalization of existing enterprises but added that there is room for expanding public ownership in an expanding economy.

Mr. Argue urged these steps on the government:

1. An immediate increase in the universal $55 a month old age pension to $75.
2. Establishment now of a medical insurance plan, along the lines of the present hospital insurance plan, to provide free medical, dental and ocular services.

Tory MP Calls for More Immigrants

Arthur Maloney (PC-Toronto-Parkdale) suggested Wednesday that Canada consider stepping up the flow of immigration.

In Throne Speech debate, he said that in view of the healthy state of the economy the time is ripe for taking a second look at a policy in effect since 1957 of reducing the number of immigrants admitted.

Senator David Cross (I. Ontario) introduced a bill in the Senate Wednesday to abolish the death penalty except in some cases of treason.

An identical bill was proposed in the Commons Monday by Frank McGee (PC, York-Scarborough).

Senator Cross said he plans to let his bill stand on the order paper until the Commons disposes of Mr. McGee's bill. If the Commons voted to abolish capital punishment, he would withdraw his bill.

Both the Liberal and CCF parties favor a free Commons vote on Mr. McGee's measure, with members voting from conscience and not along party lines. There has been speculation the government may permit the bill to come to a vote, but Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the House Monday no consideration has been given as yet to that question.

Private members' bills normally have little chance of coming to a vote unless the government wants one.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker accused Opposition Leader Pearson Wednesday of voicing "chronic walls" and forebodings of catastrophe and disaster that never came to pass.

Quoting extensively from Mr. Pearson's speeches in Parliament in 1958 and 1959, he said during the Throne Speech debate that the Liberal leader "viewed Canada's economic condition as a mess, with trade gone and markets disappearing and inflation stealing from the average Canadian as never before."

What had happened was that the gross national product value of all goods and services produced—last year rose 7 per cent over a year earlier while prices rose only 2 per cent. Employment rose 2.7 per cent and unemployment was lower throughout the year.

Liberals had spoken of "run-away inflation"—but the consumer price index showed an average increase over 1958 of only 1.1 per cent.

CCF Leader Argue called for organization of a Commons committee to "inquire into the whole question of control of newspapers and television in this country."

He said increasing numbers of private television stations and "disturbing growth" of newspaper chains pose a "great danger to freedom and democracy." There was a threat to the democratic right of free speech.

CASTRO GOES INTO RAGE IN TV STUDIO

Spanish Envoy Expelled As Near-Riot Threatens

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro early today gave the Spanish ambassador 24 hours to get out of Cuba after a face-to-face midnight row before a countrywide television audience that threatened to develop into a riot.

Fuming with rage, the bearded premier announced he was immediately recalling his own ambassador to Madrid, Jose Miro Cordona. He said it was uncertain whether a complete diplomatic break with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government would follow.

CRASHES STUDIO

Police and soldiers grabbed the Spanish ambassador, Juan Pablo de Lojendio, marquis of Vellisca, and hustled him out of the TV studio after he had rushed in through a side door and accused the premier of slandering him in the broadcast.

Castro had said the embassy was "in contact with war criminals and has ties with them." He accused the U.S. Embassy of similar activity against his regime.

Castro towered over the clean-shaven, aristocratic diplomat as he refused the ambassador's demands to be heard and shouted angrily: "You are not in Spain now. You are in Cuba."

CUBAN AMBASSADOR IN HURRIED TRIP HOME

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Cuban Ambassador Jose Miro Cordona said he would leave for Havana today on a Spanish airliner to consult with his government.

The ambassador's announcement said the Spanish government had not expelled him in retaliation for Premier Fidel Castro's summary expulsion of the Spanish ambassador in Havana after the two clashed during one of Castro's television appearances.

News dispatches brought the first word to Madrid of Castro's action. Officials of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government refused to comment until they received official word from Havana.

the menacing crowd, Castro brought cheers from the studio audience with the assertion: "I will give the Spanish ambassador 24 hours to get out of Cuba."

"OFFICIAL DECISION"

President Osvaldo Dorticos, in the audience, jumped to the microphone and shouted: "There is no other course. This is an official decision of our government."

Castro added sarcastically: "I hope they don't send the Spanish fleet to invade the island."

Cuba was under Spanish rule for centuries until it gained independence in 1898.

By telephone, the ambassador said he would make no plans to leave Cuba until he received official orders from the Cuban government.

CALUMNIES

The envoy said he was listening to Castro's broadcast and "I heard with true surprise his calumnious statements which affected me. Therefore I immediately went with my press adviser to the television studios for the purpose of asking the moderator of this station to authorize me to immediately deny before the people of Cuba those calumnies."

Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, was in the audience during the

OTTAWA (CP) — Associate Defence Minister Sevigny said Wednesday he made "abundantly clear" Tuesday night "that there is no agreement with NATO regarding any fixed Canadian expenditures for defence."

He read a prepared statement in the Commons concerning his appearance on the CBC television program Press Conference after which he was quoted as saying that the amount of the Canadian defence is set by NATO.

Mr. Sevigny's statement said: "It is quite true that at the commencement of the interview on the CBC television network I did say that our defence budget was greatly determined by NATO."

"Subsequently I clarified this statement by explaining that Canada had certain defence commitments to NATO, which to a large extent govern our government expenditures and that these NATO commitments have been the basis of Canada's defence planning since the organization of the alliance.

"I made it abundantly clear that there is no agreement with NATO regarding any fixed expenditures for defence."

More Revenue, No Tax Cut

THE CHARGE BY MR. STUART Fleming, Conservative MP for Okanagan-Revelstoke, that neither Premier Bennett nor any member of his Government has acknowledged the "bonanza" of $24,000,000 provided for British Columbia hospital service under the new federal-provincial agreement, has been hotly denied by Mr. Bennett.

The premier counts with the statement that federal payments are dribbling in and that the province temporarily has to carry the financing costs. This is a surprising case for Mr. Bennett to raise in the light of his own delayed payment of matching grants to the University of British Columbia building fund, but the exchange of compliments is scarcely relevant.

More important are the facts of provincial revenue and provincial expenditure on hospitals.

According to the 1959-60 estimates, one-fifth of the proceeds from the sales tax amounts to $16,800,000. Two-fifths, which represents the raise in the sales tax imposed when Mr. Bennett did away with the old contributory hospital insurance, amounts to $33,600,000 this year.

If the premier adds to this the $1,500,000 amusement tax allocation for hospitals, plus the $19,722,500 from the Federal Government for hospital service in British Columbia, the total available is $54,822,500.

The estimated payments for hospitals in 1959-60 are $42,000,000 plus $7,000,000 for hospital construction, plus $5,822,500 for hospital service administration, which makes a total expenditure of $49,500,000.

Subtracting the $49,500,000 from the revenue of $54,822,500, the premier enjoys a surplus of $5,322,500.

This is not enough, obviously, to reduce the sales tax from 5 per cent to 4 per cent, since one-fifth of the sales tax is estimated to yield $16,800,000 this year. But it is a substantial sum in pocket and the sales tax is growing and may soon reach the point where the tax rate could be reduced.

There is little prospect of such a reduction. Mr. Bennett seems determined to make no cut in the levy charged against the public on its purchases. Indeed, he boasts not of what he plans to save the taxpayer, but of what he intends to spend. That is the story he publicizes when he speaks of "goodies" to be furnished the people out of the so-called savings from retiring the province's direct debt.

The public had come to assume that when Mr. Bennett raised the sales tax from 3 to 5 per cent, the increase was to be used solely for hospital service. That assumption is in error. No such commitment exists, although the total revenue from the additional 2 per cent had to be supplemented to meet hospital costs when the new scheme was implemented. That revenue can go into the general pot.

The argument between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Fleming tends only to obscure the cold fact that regardless of Federal Government contributions, British Columbia's sales tax is going to remain at 5 per cent—a rate which provides some surplus with which the premier may buy what he calls "goodies" for British Columbians with their own money.

Going Like the Buffalo?

GUIDES AND HUNTERS IN the East Kootenay are deeply disturbed by the depletion of game stocks in their territory.

In statements to the Fernie Free Press they have criticized present provincial fish and game branch policy, contending that shooting does and fawns is threatening the existence of deer in their locality. In addition they say that too much shooting and too heavy an influx of hunters is causing a scarcity.

More access roads and easier and quicker modes of transportation are permitting too many people to kill off too many animals.

The guides and hunters also state that too lenient a system of game management could lead to the extinction of big game.

The situation the Kootenay interests picture differs from that outlined by some hunters and biologists on Vancouver Island. Here, the biologists contend, the deer supply has never been greater. The over-all game population has increased as logging has opened up more country with luxuriant second growth providing more browse. In some Island localities, however, game is disappearing.

But even here opinion is divided on the question of shooting does and young deer.

The difference of opinion is quite logical. Conditions vary according to regions—even according to localities within the larger regions. And, indeed, some flexibility in game regulations takes these differences into account.

The fact remains, however, that sportsmen in the East Kootenay and elsewhere are seriously concerned over conditions in country known to them and want a more effective conservation program.

The preservation of game, both for hunters and to maintain the wildlife balance, is important, economically as well as in the interests of sport.

It is important enough to call for discussion in the Legislature and before a legislative committee at which arguments of hunters of different views and of game biologists should be thoroughly aired.

Those discussions should take into consideration regional differences to a greater extent than seems to be the case today. And they should be concerned with provision of a fish and game branch with sufficient wardens to see that flexible programs are properly carried out and that the results of present policy are properly assessed.

Seawater Pool for City

THE CITY'S PUBLIC WORKS committee has suggested two types of outdoor swimming pool for Beacon Hill and has proposed that the Capital Improvement District Commission consider them as early projects.

It is to be hoped the idea is given a favorable reception. Victoria has talked for years about outdoor swimming pools but has never gone beyond talk.

One plan drafted for the committee would dam the mouth of Horseshoe Bay and allow sea water to flow in and out through a small hole as the tide rose and fell. The other would entail construction of a pool on the field above the bay, to which salt water would be pumped and heated to make swimming more enjoyable.

Forgotten Art

ANY CITY BOY WHO VISITED a farm a couple of decades ago and tried his hand unsuccessfully at milking can appreciate the difficulty of some Ontario dairy farmers robbed of their power supplies by a recent storm.

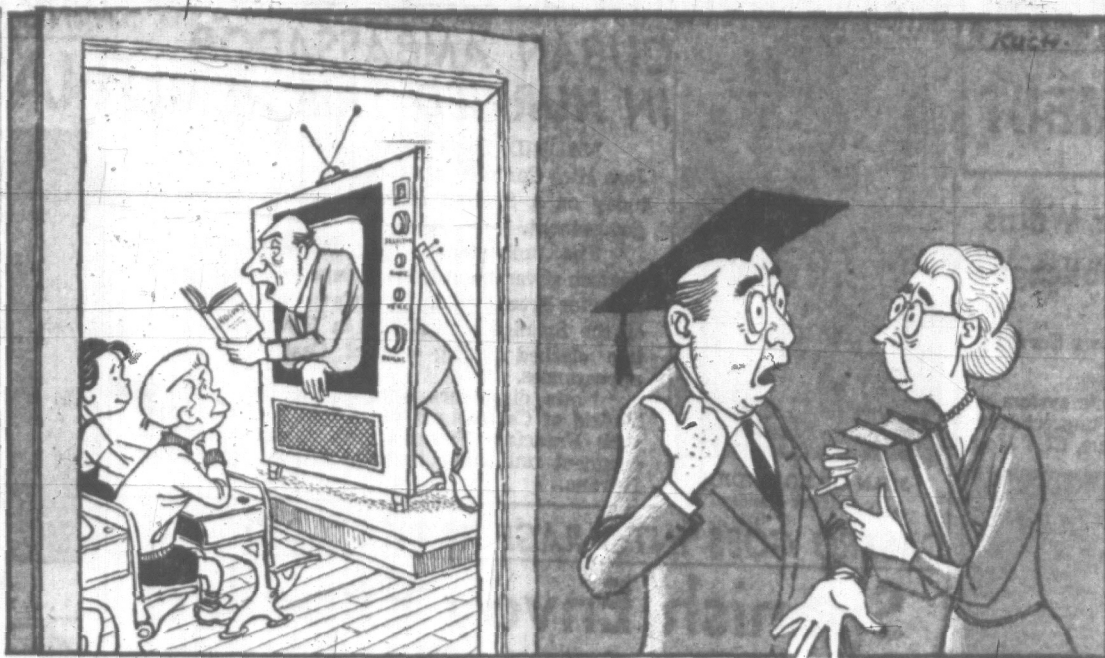

In that province, according to report, the old hand-milkers have gone the way of the whooping crane. The mechanical milker does the job for them, but the machine can't do it when the power's off.

Some Ontario dairy farm folk turned to, tried to revive an almost forgotten mastery of an ordinary farm chore and transferred what is sometimes called the most nearly perfect food from the udder to the pail with all the difficulties of people doing an unaccustomed task.

And that, we suppose, is the story of progress. Man could starve beside swollen plenty because the machine has robbed him of manual dexterity and left him without the simple ability to make Bossy give down.

Which makes you wonder what will happen some time in the future when the power fails and the machines that do our thinking for us go into a coma.

'This is the only way we can get them to pay attention.'

FROM WASHINGTON

Private Comfort Ahead of National Need

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE president has been true to the principle he laid down in his first budget, which was submitted on Jan. 21, 1954. "We will reduce," he said six years ago, "the share of the national income which is spent by the government." He has done that. Although the federal government is spending on the purchase of goods and services more than it did six years ago, this is a smaller share of the much increased national income. Even when we add the very considerable increased amount spent by local and state governments, the total is still a smaller share than it was in 1953, when the president was preparing his first budget.

Lippmann

So the president is entitled to say that he has been faithful to the principle he laid down when he began. During his term of office the American people have been enjoying a larger share of a greatly enlarged national income. Never before in all history have so many people in any country had so much money to spend privately and as they saw fit.

This would be an unalloyed delight were it not for the disturbing fact that during these years of private prosperity, the president has been presiding over the loss of American primacy among the great powers of the world.

Much Richer

There is no doubt that this country is still much richer than the Soviet Union. It may be, although no one knows, not any weaker than the Soviet Union. But we have fallen behind and are not holding our own in terms of national power, in over-all military capacity, in the competition to pioneer in outer space, in the comparative rate of economic growth, and in education, which is the life-giving principle of national power.

Why has this happened? Why are we challenged in this way when, in fact, the Soviet Union has a gross national product which is less than half of ours and a standard of living about a third as high as our own? Why is this richer country being pressed by a poorer country?

The reason, at bottom, is that in this period of cold war, the president has adhered to a principle which would probably no longer be suitable even in a time of total peace. He has adhered to a principle which puts private comfort and private consumption ahead of national need.

The president has spent his seven years in office reducing the share of the national income devoted to public purposes. The challenge of the Soviet Union has been demanding an increase, not a reduction, of the share of the national income devoted to public purpose.

We are falling behind in the race because we are not allowed to run.

The Soviet economy is growing at a rate which, estimated conservatively, is 6 per cent per annum. Our economy has been growing at a rate of less than 3 per cent. The Soviet economy is half as big as ours but it is growing twice as fast. This means that this year's increment of increase is about $12,000,000,000 in the U.S.S.R. and about $15,000,000,000 in the U.S.A.

National Purposes

But—and this is the crux of the matter—the U.S.S.R. will use most, not all, of the $12,000,000,000 increase for national purposes, for armaments, for productive investment, for foreign aid, and for national education.

We, on the other hand, are acting on the Eisenhower principle, and we are spending a greater share of our $15,000,000,000 increase for private purposes, for the making of consumer goods and of the factories and facilities connected with the making and use of consumer goods.

That is why the national power of the Soviet Union is forging ahead of the national power of the United States.

I have taken this analysis of the figures from several sources, but chiefly from the brilliant and notable testimony before the joint committee of Congress given last autumn by Prof. W. W. Rostow of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The analysis is confirmed by the testimony of Mr. Allen W. Dulles, based on the findings of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The concluding paragraph of Mr. Dulles' statement is one that we must all ponder and take to heart.

It says, "The major thrust of Soviet economic development and its high technological skills and resources are directed towards specialized industrial, military and national power goals. A major thrust of our economy is directed into the production of the consumer-type goods and services which add little to the sinews of our national strength. Hence, neither the size of our respective gross national product nor of our respective industrial production is a true yardstick of our relative national power positions."

"The uses to which economic resources are directed largely determine the measure of national power."

Fundamental Issue

I emphasize the last sentence of Mr. Dulles' statement because it states, so it seems to me, the fundamental issue which the country must meet.

The president's controlling principle—that the government should spend a smaller share of a growing national income—as its consequence, in this age of cold war and national rivalry, that the country will have a smaller position of influence and power in the world.

While it may be that the days of our primacy, which were brief, are ending, what must not be allowed to end, in our party with the greatest powers, is our dependence on the dearest hopes of mankind.

Nobody can say as yet when the nation will become aroused to the realization that national duty must take precedence over private indulgence, that it is not possible to preserve our society by private affluence and public complacency.

The voices that will serve the country, and indeed save it, will be those of stern men demanding hard things. They may not as yet do well in the Gallup polls. They will be listened to sooner or later. For they will shatter the belief, now so prevalent among us, that affluence is greatness. It is not. In the history of human society it has often been the case that when riches were devoted to luxury it was the mark of their decline.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Policeman's Pay

I read in the Times that Oak Bay police demand a 17 per cent wage increase.

In the eight years I have lived here, my taxes have gone up from $114.57 to $207.22, which is 80.87 per cent increase.

In the same period, policemen's wages have advanced from $229 to $398.94, being 74 per cent increase.

They also receive extra per month for clothing, medical, insurance, pension, etc., $38, equal to 10 per cent over wages. During the last two years, my bonds and shares have depreciated 8.8 per cent. Yet I, with decreased value in securities, am expected to pay 17 per cent extra to policemen, because they are in a union.

Twelve policemen are trying to force 12,000 taxpayers to pay the $95,000 extra wages per annum. They already receive $450 average (with fringe benefits), which is more than 60 per cent of taxpayers receive.

Do these men realize that my 1963 bonds, $100, are now quoted at 85%? And of 10 bonds and shares all are down 10 to 20 per cent. Out of my losses I am expected to pay policemen 17 per cent increase. The firemen will follow suit.

The cost of living has advanced 25 per cent in 10 years, averaging 2½ per cent per annum. How can these men have the gall to demand 17 per cent? Do they not realize they have a very soft job, at an exceedingly high price? It is time to say a very definite "no."

If the matter is referred to conciliation, the wages always go up. The government always buys votes, as in the recent U.S.A. steel strike, when Nixon forced the price-up to $3.50 per hour.

Better Bus Service

I wish to go on record at this time stating my views in regard to the existing service and high tariffs of the city bus lines. What with the comparatively short routes used by the BCE the 13-cent fare is excessive and the long intervals between buses requires improvement.

With the present parking problem as it is today, many businessmen have told me that they would very much prefer to leave their automobiles in their garages but for the long waiting periods between buses and the excessive costs. I feel that this service is a detriment to our local shops and stores and is certainly no help to them during the tourist season.

The buses should run with a maximum of 10-minute intervals, a five-cent fare and no transfers.

I further feel that the mayor and the city council should get together with the B.C.E. to get this better service. It would be more economical to the public and more profitable to the company.

The Narcotic Addict

Thank you for Art Stott's excellent précis on the problems of drug addiction. (Times, Jan. 15.)

Like most diseases, drug addiction is not "all in the mind" as Barney Ross would have us believe, nor is it simply a chemical change in the body. We can only say that, given a suitable mental and physical environment, some individuals may become addicted to drugs. It is easy to cure a drug addict—but he relapses just as easily. Indeed, relapse is an inevitable factor to be reckoned with in treating the addict. So it is in other diseases. Many people have had bronchitis or pneumonia half a dozen times. Do asthma sufferers expect their doctors to cure them permanently?

"Permanent cure," meaning a life-long cure, is a rarity in the practice of medicine. Alleviation of discomfort on the other hand and a control of disease is commonplace. There are few heart diseases which can be permanently cured, but many patients with weak hearts lead active and useful lives under proper medical care. So could most addicts if medical care were legally available to them.

The system in force in Britain, under which physicians are free to treat addicts without police or government interference, has shown without doubt that many addicts are capable of leading useful and relatively normal lives when a certain minimum dose of their drug is regularly administered. In Canada it is illegal for a physician to help an addict in this way. Addicts should not be forced into criminal activities in order to pay huge prices for the drug they so desperately need.

Criminals or not, they are certainly sick people, and their sickness should be treated by doctors and not by the brutal methods advocated by the U.S. Federal Bureau of Narcotics.

Mountain And Mouse

By MAURICE WESTERN

THE National Committee for the New Party has labored and produced an ordinary common or garden mouse. A draft document intended to provide a basis for discussion between now and the holding of CLC and CCF conventions later this year sets forth nine suggested "objects" of the New Party, which aspires to replace the Liberals in Canadian and provincial politics. The remarkable fact is that the "objects" are so qualified and woolly that they could be endorsed without so much as a noticeable twinge by almost any member of the "old line" parties.

There are, admittedly, a few words and phrases of recognizable ancestry calculated to awaken an emotional response in the hearts of old-fashion Socialists. The committee would "plan the use of Canada's human and material resources to achieve an ever-expanding economy dedicated to the service of human needs above private profit."

But all parties are committed to an ever-expanding economy; a vast amount of planning goes on at the present time and a great deal of it (one has only to consider the social services or foreign aid) clearly has nothing to do with private profit.

Naturally much of the planning in a free enterprise economy is decentralized. Does the New Party propose then to "eradicate capitalism and thus to centralize planning in a government authority?" Not at all. The committee merely proposes to expand the role of co-operative and public ownership "wherever desirable in the interests of the people."

In recent years, under Liberal and Conservative governments, the co-operatives have expanded their role enormously; they are, indeed, expected to be the beneficiaries of new legislation at the present session of parliament.

"We have lived for years in a mixed economy which continues to develop. Every addition to the public sector has been defended in terms of public interest. To say, therefore, that one favors public ownership 'wherever desirable in the interests of the people' is merely to beg the important questions."

What's New?

If the New Party is really new, it ought surely to be able to differentiate its objectives clearly from those of the older groups. Which of the national parties professes opposition to the safeguarding of Canadian democratic institutions, the protection of civil rights, the widest possible educational opportunities for Canadians, social and economic improvements, the strengthening of unity by affording the provinces necessary means to perform their duties, the development of Canada's culture, co-operation with other peoples to abolish poverty and to extend freedom? Which of the parties is opposed to the United Nations, disarmament and the goal of a world police force? The briefest glance at political literature should convince anyone that all our parties are strongly for virtue and against sin.

But the above covers practically all the objectives in the study paper except that of uniting "all progressive people and organizations" (we are all, of course, "progressive") into federal and provincial parties "financed and democratically controlled by individuals and affiliated members." This is a lofty though not a very novel principle—it has been a talking point of the disappearing CCF for years—but the test, after all, is resistance to temptation and human frailty is not confined to the traditional parties.

To find anything striking or unusual in the committee's study paper, one must turn to the sections dealing with practical arrangements. There is, of course, the controversial matter of per capita dues paid by affiliated organizations (such as labor unions) to the party exchequer.

Conflict

Here the paper says that "any member... may at any time inform his organization that he does not wish per capita to be paid to the party on his behalf and the organization shall forthwith cease to do so."

Equally interesting, however, is the section on the National Convention which is to meet every two years and to be the supreme governing body of the party. "It shall," says the paper, "decide the principles, policies and program of the party."

Well, every political group pays appropriate homage to the grass-roots and certainly principles and programs are proper subjects for conventions.

But the New Party aspires to govern and a government, whatever its hue, has the responsibility of deciding policy from day to day. It is surely naïve to suggest that a government, in policy-making, can be a sort of agent of a party convention summoned once in 24 months and composed in large part of citizens remote from the actual business.

Startling too is the paragraph on provincial parties. Each is to be "fully autonomous as to its program and constitution for the province, provided that its program and constitution are not in conflict with the general principles and objectives of the party." This suggests a measure of control by the national organization over the constituent provincial organs.

But Canadian political history is rich in examples of provincial Liberal (and Conservative) governments which quarrelled violently on matters of program with federal governments of the same political plumage. Indeed, it is not so very long since serious scholars argued that provincial ministries (then mostly liberal) formed the real opposition to the enormously powerful Liberal government in Ottawa.

In a federal state provincial parties tend to be jealous of their autonomy and the National Committee for the New Party is brash to challenge this strong tradition.

A Fine Anthology

THE Bookmobile did us proud on its last visit to our district. But the pick of the books that I lugged home is "The Bird Watcher's Anthology" by Roger Tory Peterson.

(His "A Field Guide to the Birds" has been so popular, say Ms. publishers, that there's a current quip about Peterson having gone out with more women on Sunday afternoon than any other man in history.)

The Anthology is too bulky for carrying about. It's a book for pleasant evenings by the fire, or for dipping into between domestic chores.

I've been enjoying it immensely for the information in it, for the quality of some of the descriptive writing, and for the general atmosphere and philosophy of the book.

If I had lots of money, I'd give this book to all sorts of people who, like myself, know very little about birds and yet love to watch them in an amateurish way.

I'd like to think that it was in every high school library, and being chosen as a book prize for the end of the academic year. For it's the kind of book that lasts and would give joy throughout a lifetime.

The 85 selections in it are from the writings of great naturalists, bird watchers and explorers. Sutton, Burroughs, Peattie, Huxley, Teale, W. H. Hudson, Audubon, Darwin and Thoreau are there as well as many others.

I enjoyed a most amusing piece by Florence Jacques who, with a group of professional bird watchers, including her husband, spent what she called "a bird-haunted weekend" near Rhinebeck on the Hudson River. The Big Day, as she calls it, consisted of counting birds for 16 solid hours during the big migration in May.

Though she trotted faithfully after the fanatics, she seldom saw the birds the experts saw. "Small things bobbed like popcorn among the twigs, but if every they stopped an instant, it was always behind a leaf."

The other amusing piece, "Birdsmanship" by Bruce Campbell, is divided into sections, "The Birdman in Society," "The Birdman in the Field," "The Birdman at Meetings." If delighted me, and I know that it would delight serious bird watchers, too, for the "birdier" they get, the more they can laugh at themselves.

On the more serious side, I enjoyed Julian Huxley's description of hearing a willow wren on the shores of Victoria Nyanza in Central Africa. W. H. Hudson's account of migration on the Pampas, Sigurd Olson's piece about the wild geese, Peterson's "A Night in a Channel Lighthouse" and Robert Porter Allen's "Last of the Louisiana Whoopers."

But to list the selections is useless. They take one to many parts of the world, and back in time to Gilbert White, whose "The Natural History of Selborne" appeared in 1788.

All those who read this book will have their favorite section and their favorite piece. Some who know their bird literature may regret certain omissions. But I think it's a book to watch for certainly, and to buy if possible. For, unlike so many books, it's one to read again and again with interest and delight.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

New Drugs

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Of late, I have chatted with some of the brilliant chemists who, in recent years, have given us many of our wonderful new drugs.

As these chemists reminded me, the first job of a drug is to take a drug that has been found to have value and then to take it apart and rebuild it in perhaps a hundred ways, hoping always to strengthen its good qualities and, at the same time, get rid of its few bad ones.

Today, this drug-making game is coming to be such an exact science that an expert can say what part of the molecule must not be changed if the substance is to be a sedative or an anesthetic or a muscle relaxant. He may also be able to guess what sort of a drug he will get if he adds certain "side-chains" to the molecule. Some side-chains will strengthen it as a medicine, while others will make it so toxic that it cannot be given to patients.

Every so often these chemists have the joy of finding an entirely new type of chemical that will act, let us say, like morphine, and then for a while they will have high hopes that they can make a powerful pain-killer that won't cause habituation. The sad feature of all this is that sometimes a group of chemists who have worked hopelessly on a problem for a few years have to quit, and start all over again, beginning with another substance. Because they went up the wrong tree their years of effort and hundreds of thousands of dollars went for naught.

Along the way the chemists will be turning over the most hopeful of the new chemicals they have made to a team of men and women who will test the substances on mice and rats to see what the "physiologic actions" are. Some drugs will raise blood pressure and some will lower it; some will make a savage rat tame, while some will make a tame rat irritable and dangerous to handle.

When the testers on small animals find a drug that looks promising it must next be tried out on men and women. Sometimes, this process takes two years, during which time able specialists try to make sure that the new drug is not only useful but safe.

720 SQ.-MILE METRO PLANNED BY TORONTO

TORONTO (CP) — A 20-year plan for Metropolitan Toronto which in effect welds Hamilton, Toronto and Oshawa into one economic urban unit was disclosed Wednesday night by the Metro planning board.

Looking forward to 1980, the plan proposes legislation which would place 720 square miles, 26 municipalities and 47 miles of Lake Ontario shoreline under planning control. Based on a predicted population increase to 2,800,000 by 1980, the plan sets out Metro's requirements for housing, schools, transportation, parks and other municipal services for the next 20 years. Population in 1958 was 1,623,000.

Metro Chairman F. G. Gardiner said the plan is the foundation for one of the finest metropolitan areas in the world.

Ike, Dulles Held to Blame In Suez Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden charges that President Eisenhower and the late U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles thwarted a peaceful solution of the 1956 Suez crisis by "baccilation, cynicism and an unrealistic appraisal of its importance in relation to the Middle East power balance."

Eden, in excerpts from his memoirs published today in McCall's magazine, conceded that the United States had some problems of its own—including a national election—which affected its handling of the three-month crisis between Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal on July 26, 1956, and the British and French armed intervention at the end of October.

'DISMAL TRAIL'

But that did not mitigate his criticism of the United States government for forcing Britain and France down what he described as a "long and dismal trail of negotiations." During this period, as he related it, the United States failed to exert any financial pressure on Egypt and, through ill-timed public statements, pulled the teeth from every plan which it was hoped would force return of the canal to international control. "A preacher in the world of politics, it sometimes seemed as if Mr. Dulles had little regard for the consequences of his words," Eden wrote.

This first instalment of excerpts from Eden's book, to be published this spring, covers Western negotiations and actions over the Suez crisis from the inception of the Aswan dam project, from which Western financial support was withdrawn publicly by Dulles on July 19, 1956, to the point at which Britain and France decided to intervene in Egypt without consulting the United States.

"We knew quite well that once palayers began, no effective action would be possible," Eden wrote.

DECIDED BY U.S.

"The course of the Suez Canal crisis was decided by the American attitude toward it," Eden wrote. "If the United States government had approached this issue in the spirit of an ally, they would have done everything in their power, short of the use of force, to support the nations whose economic security depended upon the freedom of passage through the Suez Canal."

From the first and throughout the crisis, the United States refused to join France, Britain and other Western nations in withholding canal dues from the Egyptian government and was "not helpful about other forms of financial restraint," Eden wrote.

FRENCH VIEWPOINT

Dulles prolonged negotiations, Eden said, with a new proposal put forward even before a first plan of peaceful action, to which he had agreed, had been abandoned.

Eden said the French had "felt that the American administration was not fulfilling its promises, that some of the utterances of the President and Mr. Dulles would make the Russians believe they could back Nasser with impunity, that the delay was allowing Nasser to build up an ever stronger position."

Engineer Honored

LONDON (AP) — Andre Coyne, 68-year-old French engineer who designed the ill-fated Malpas dam at Frejus, has been honored by Britain for his work on the Kariba Dam in Africa. A Buckingham Palace spokesman Tuesday said the Queen had made Coyne an honorary commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Britain Warned Soviets

LONDON (CP) — Sir Anthony Eden, Wednesday revealed that before the 1956 Suez crisis he personally warned the rulers of Soviet Russia that Britain would fight to defend her Middle East oil interests.

The former prime minister said his warning compelled the Soviets carefully to keep their hands off Britain's prized oil investments.

The views of the one-time British leader appeared in a copyrights instalment of his memoirs published by the London Times.

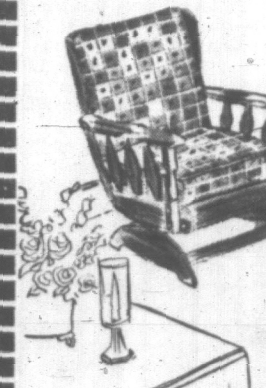

Eden told of his negotiations with the Soviet leaders, Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita

Khrushchev, when they visited a threat—because if it was Britain in the spring of 1956, Russia could only reject it. But Eden retorted it was no threat—merely a statement of her oil investments were intent that Britain did not mean to allow anyone to whether that was intended as a strangle her to death.

House to Probe Defence Costs

OTTAWA (CP) — A Commons committee is to tackle the job of giving defence policy and spending a thorough airing.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced in the Commons Wednesday that he will propose such a course, advocated by Opposition Leader Pearson Monday in launching the throne speech debate.

Mr. Pearson and Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, immediately welcomed his statement. Both Mr. Pearson and Mr. Argue called for assurance that the committee will go into questions of defence policy.

Mr. Diefenbaker made it clear that while the committee will have power to discuss policy it will not get into the realm of making policy.

He was agreeable to it being small in size — Mr. Pearson suggested seven to nine members — and said that it should determine whether its meetings be open or closed.

More A-Arms Details Sought by Liberals

OTTAWA (CP) — American nuclear warheads in Canada will be under the "sole use and direction" of the Canadian government once they are released by the United States government, Defence Minister Pearkes said Wednesday in the Commons.

A series of questions by Mr. Pearson and Paul Hellyer (L. Toronto Trinity), former associate defence minister, sought elaboration of a statement Monday night by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that Canada will control the use in this country of American nuclear warheads for Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles.

Mr. Pearkes said the weapons stored in Canada will be held "until released for use by Canadian forces."

"When they are released to Canada, then Canada has the sole use and direction of use of these weapons."

However, when Mr. Pearson pressed for a statement as to whether U.S. law now permits the release of such weapons to Canada, Mr. Pearkes merely said none is stored in Canada.

CANADIAN CONTROL

Mr. Diefenbaker said ownership of the warheads would continue to rest with the U.S. but the Canadian government would control their use in Canada.

Mr. Hellyer asked whether in transferring the warheads to Canadian forces, the U.S. will relinquish any of its legal obligations to control them.

Mr. Pearkes said the weapons stored in Canada will be held "until released for use by Canadian forces."

ROBERT BARRIE

Labor Leader Re-Elected

Robert Barrie, delegate for explosives workers at James Island, Wednesday was re-elected president of the 12,000-member Victoria Labor Council for his third consecutive term.

His return was by acclamation when it was found at the last moment that Jack MacKenzie, IWA delegate and a former president of the VLC, was not eligible to run because he hadn't attended sufficient meetings during the year.

Three other officers returned by acclamation were A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer; E. T. Staley, carpenter, first vice-president; and Ed Haw, IWA, second vice-president.

Committee chairman elected were James Penneock, organizations; Percy Rayment, legislative; Don Douglas, employment; Mrs. Rhoda Erickson, political action; James Moffitt, credentials; Nell Hindle, public relations.

COMPETITION WARNING

'Fight for Every Tourist Nickel'

Future competition for tourist dollars is going to be so great Victoria will have "to fight for every nickel," tourist trade group members were told Wednesday.

Dr. Hugh Borsman, chairman of the group's Tourist Appreciation Week program issued this warning as he called upon the group to participate actively in TAW.

"Victoria should aim for a $25 million tourist business," he said.

Last year, he said, many people not directly concerned with tourism played a big role in making TAW a success.

On the other hand "those concerned played a small role; in many cases they played no role."

He called on members of the group to support TAW in 1960, particularly the TAW button promotion.

Dr. Borsman said many of the features of the 1959 program — questionnaire, high school essay contest and coupon sales — would be repeated but modified.

He termed "excellent" a suggestion that first prize in the coupon sales promotion would have the winner name guests to be brought to Victoria from anywhere in North America for an expenses-paid vacation.

Suggested second and third prizes are trips to San Francisco and Seattle.

He announced that TAW publicity will be handled by Cliff Rutledge.

On April 5 stops will be made at Wenatchee and Grand Coulee Dam, followed by an evening meeting at Spokane.

The tour will proceed to Coeur d'Alene, Sand Point and Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, April 6 with an overnight stay at Kimberley.

Cranbrook, Creston and Nelson will be the stops April 7, followed by visits April 8 to Trail and Penticton. The group will visit Kelowna April 9 before returning to Victoria via Nanaimo.

In recommending the Canada-U.S. route, the committee considered and rejected San Francisco, Rogers Pass and the prairies. Next year, said Mr. Downard, the group likely will head for San Francisco, stopping off at the Seattle Exposition.

Chamber Sets Another U.S. Goodwill Tour

Victoria Chamber of Commerce's Tourist Trade Group Wednesday approved unanimously a Canadian-American goodwill tour in 1960.

The tour will be made between April 3-9 and will cost $95-$100 excluding meals.

Tour chairman Vic Downard said plans call for the group leaving Sunday, April 3, for Port Angeles aboard Mv. Coho. Brief stops will be made April 4 at Bremerton and Tacoma with a night meeting at Seattle.

On April 5 stops will be made at Wenatchee and Grand Coulee Dam, followed by an evening meeting at Spokane.

Mt. Douglas to Saanich?

Saanich council Wednesday was asked how it feels about a suggestion that it take over Mount Douglas Park.

Request for the expression of opinion came from the first meeting this year of Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee.

The 1,200-acre park is owned by the city but administered by the joint committee which also looks after a number of other city parks located in Saanich.

Possible transfer of the park has been informally discussed a number of times over the years but the question came to a head in a legal report to the committee which said the transfer could not be accomplished without an amendment to the Municipal Act.

"This never has been discussed by our council," said Saanich Coun. George Austin. The park was given to the city by the province in the last century when Saanich was still unorganized territory.

The committee asked the two councils for a $15,000 budget—up $3,000 from last year—with Victoria's share $10,000.

An official opening ceremony for the $21,000 bath house built for the city at Hamsterley Beach by the Junior Chamber of Commerce was set for April 16, the Saturday of the Easter weekend.

A $1,055 winter work program of brush clearing at Mount Douglas Park was approved.

Ald. M. H. Mooney was re-elected as chairman of the committee, with Saanich Reeve George Chatterton elected vice-chairman.

Fish have an acute sense of smell, and scientists believe this enables salmon to find their way back to their spawning grounds.

WIDELY RECOGNIZED as an agricultural economic expert, Prof. D. R. ## 'Idealism Lost By Trade Unions'

EDMONTON (CP)—Trade unions are conducting a frightening campaign to control society, Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said Wednesday at a press conference.

There was a time when trade unionism and idealism were one and the same thing, the Liberal premier said. "Today trade unions, instead of fighting for their place in society, are trying to control society... It's frightening."

Mr. Smallwood said the trade union movement, with rare exceptions, "has become a gigantic, relentless movement of selfishness."

Students Picket Smallwood

EDMONTON (CP)—Ten young men and a girl Wednesday night paraded with placards in front of a downtown Edmonton hotel where Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland addressed the annual meeting of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

The group, seven of them University of Alberta students, carried placards saying "Welcome to Edmonton" on one side and "Joey Go Away" on the other.

Another sign said "Smallwood is a nasty little man." "We are from no outfit," said one of the group, "we're just protesting."

Clan Chief Improved

ISLE OF SKYE, Scotland (Reuters)—Dame Flora MacLeod, 81-year-old chief of the MacLeod clan, Wednesday was reported to be "satisfactory and feeling much better" following an automobile accident Tuesday in which she fractured her hip.

TOURIST GROUP TACKLES FERRY MAIL SPEED-UP

Tourist Trade group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce took the first steps Wednesday which they hope will lead to faster mail service between Victoria and Port Angeles.

The group set up a committee to study ways and means of having mail carried aboard the MV Coho both as a practical manner of speeding delivery and providing revenue to ferry operators.

At present mail from Victoria travels a four-day 275-mile route via Vancouver and Tacoma before reaching Port Angeles, about 18 miles away.

New Inflation Cure Advanced

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Hal Malone was that given in Vancouver Wednesday.

It's hardly possible to pick up a newspaper without reading suggestions by management or labor representatives on how to cure inflation, industrial unrest and marketing.

Of all the cures advanced for such ills one of the most logical heard by these ears

Mr. Matthias' credentials are noteworthy. He is director of engineering and construction, Aluminum Company of Canada, and president, Saguenay-Kittimat Company.

"High wage rates may look awfully good on a negotiated agreement but wouldn't that be good if no one could pay those rates?"

We hear much about fair wage rates, said Mr. Matthias. But what are they? Admittedly not an economist, he borrowed a definition used by real estate people to define the fair market value of land or other property:

"A fair market value is the price that a willing but not anxious buyer will pay to a willing but not anxious seller."

WARRANTS STUDY

"I don't know," said Mr. Matthias, "how this could be translated into the normal tense emotional atmosphere characteristic of wage-rate negotiations or to the establishment of a fair wage but perhaps there is something in it worth thinking about."

He praised and paraphrased MP Harold Winch "... higher and higher wages are not the final answer ... labor, industry and government must openly and freely collaborate in the interests of keeping our economy sound through reduction of prices."

"Maybe," said Mr. Matthias, "real co-operative collaboration will lead us to the real meaning of a fair wage."

Combine Created To Control Policy, Cut Competition

TORONTO (CP)—The Supreme Court of Ontario was told a 37-brewery combine was created by Canadian Breweries Ltd. as a means of reducing competition and to control policies of the brewing industry.

Special crown prosecutor R. F. Wilson charged the ultimate aim was to get maximum profits for the company.

"The crown does not complain about the attainment of maximum profits in industry or the size of a particular firm resulting from the normal interplay of competitive forces," he said.

"In this case, however, the position attained by Canadian Breweries was the result of artificial consolidation of various companies in the industry."

The brewing firm has pleaded not guilty to a charge of having formed or operated a merger that operated or was likely to operate to the detriment of the public interest.

PWA Reports Boost In Freight Traffic

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pacific Western Airlines has reported an eight-fold freight traffic increase in 1959 over the previous year.

The company also said its aircraft hours increased 70 per cent from 5,900 hours in 1958 to 10,034 hours last year. There was a 29 per cent increase in passenger traffic.

PWA currently has 49 aircraft in operation in western Canada and the north.

$48 Million Uranium Deal Likely Soon

TORONTO (CP)—Consolidated Denison Mines Ltd., northern Ontario uranium producer, reports it is in "advanced negotiations" for the acquisition of an additional uranium contract valued at approximately $48,000,000.

Its present contract with Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd.—the federal agency—is for $201,895,000, originally scheduled for completion by March 31, 1963.

The proposed purchase of an additional contract is in line with the government's November announcement that fulfillment of contracts may be stretched out to 1966, and that companies may purchase contracts held by other interests.

Consolidated Denison also announced net profit in 1959 of $17,898,000, or $4.02 a share, compared with $9,556,000, or $2.14 a share, in 1958. Production revenue was $19,495,000, an increase of $7,161,000.

DENNIS HAD A BUSY NIGHT

Reaching for puck during Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena Wednesday night, Edmonton goalie Dennis Riggins appears to have ample protection as Stu McNeill (17) and Lloyd Haddon (6) combine to tie up Victoria's Doug Anderson

(9) and burly Pete Goegan (3) is ready to lend assistance. Riggins' defence wasn't as effective at other times and he was busiest man on ice as Cougars fired 49 shots his way while chalking up 5-0 victory over Flyers. (Times photo by Strickland)

Big Smile From Rudy, Even If It's Temporary

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—The great dealers of baseball brag about their deceit with the impudence of phony stock mongers explaining how they trim the market. Their sneakiness wouldn't be tolerated in any other line of decent endeavor. Some run their stores according to the principles followed by curbstone hustlers who peddle cat pelt for mink.

But the honorable simplicity with which Horace Stoneham, president of the San Francisco Giants, conducts his business has damaged his prestige as a merchant of the sport, but he is one of the best. In a pair of player exchanges since the World Series, Stoneham has established his team as the winter champions of the National League.

With players he didn't need, Stoneham bought Billy Loes and Billy O'Dell to pitch for his company and plugged up the freeway at second base with Don Blasingame. The club needs another shortstop because Andre Rodgers is not a big leaguer and Eddie Bressoud's skills are limited. The catchers are either dumb or useless with a bat. But, just as they are, the Giants should be a dead-even proposition to win the championship of their federation.

Unlike his contemporaries, Stoneham doesn't put players on planes for other towns merely to incite the buffs into false ecstasies. The trades he pulls off are forced upon him by the weakness of his team. Some claim Stoneham's vice is sentimentality and he has been accused of holding onto players too long because he thinks he owes them a debt of loyalty.

I don't peg this as a defect. I consider this silly denunciation a glorious tribute. I realize Stoneham took his franchise out of New York and installed it in San Francisco for reasons of profit.

But the way he did it earned my respect. As Walter O'Malley, the head keeper of the Brooklyn menagerie, played the New York politicians against the Los Angeles ones, Stoneham candidly admitted he was leaving town on a permanent road trip for economic purposes.

It diminished his profits during last summer in the Polo Grounds but he left with dignity. O'Malley kidded the Brooklyn buffs until the last ticket was sold in Ebbets Field. He was describing the affection he had for the beautiful people of Brooklyn while he was running for the train with his keister packed.

Weiss, Stoneham Best In Trade

I'm on the get-lost list of Lonesome George Weiss who is the stick man for the Yankees. I am Stoneham's friend. But they are the best traders in their game although such as Frank Lane are identified as eccentric geniuses.

The Giants were guaranteed the championship of the National League in '51 when Stoneham made the Boston Braves for Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark. It was Johnny Antonelli who brought to New York in the winter, took them into the World Series in '54 by winning 21 games. But Stoneham is a man who believes the financiers of baseball should function in a sort of privacy and didn't take the bows he was entitled to.

The Giants' bullpen was a community of mediocrity last season. The starting pitchers worked all shifts and, as the summer ended, they were depleted. The kids on the ball club became jumpy with anxiety during the last week. Panic compelled Bill Rigney, their manager, to use Sam Jones, exhausted after prolonged toil as a beginner of games and a finisher, with an eight-run lead.

The people who advise Stoneham insist they should have won the pennant. They blame Rigney's indecision for dropping them back into third place from a two-game lead with only a week to go. Stoneham declined to comment on his manager's acts. It is his policy to stand up for a man as long as he is an employee.

Chances are, Stoneham will fire Rigney if he doesn't bring this renovated team into immediate contention. Some believe that Stoneham would have bounced Rigney last year but his sense of chivalry led him to give the manager a full year.

The next manager could be Leo Durocher but Rigney will be around a long time if he can push his team into first place in next year's tournament. I imagine Rigney is also getting another shot also because Stoneham forced his manager to play Rodgers at short against his council.

As soon as Rodgers was laid off and Bressoud took his place, the team began to move up. It held on until they dropped five games to the Braves and the Dodgers and then flipped dead. But since Stoneham collared the new personnel, people are discussing them as winter champions.

CHICAGO (CP)—Forget about the runaway Montreal Canadiens for a moment and look at the scramble for fourth place in the six-team National Hockey League.

Only the first four teams enter the playoffs, and even with a third of the schedule still to be played, a position within the playoff alignment is a joyous comfort to a coach.

Rudy Pilous joined the circle of happier coaches Wednesday night when his Chicago Black Hawks came through with a 3-1 home-ice triumph over Boston and replaced the Bruins in the No. 4 spot.

It was the league's only action.

But Pilous' happiness could be brief. The Bruins, with a game in hand, can vault back over the Hawks with a win tonight when they meet the Red Wings in Detroit.

Youngsters Bobby Hull and Murray Balfour paced Chicago with a goal and an assist apiece. Rookie centre Bill Hay assisted on both goals and Pierre Pilote scored the third. Bronco Horvath banged home Boston's goal.

The outcome squared the season's series between the team at four wins each with one tie.

HULL IN LEAD

Hull meanwhile broke a deadlock with Horvath for the scoring leadership. The two-point performance by the 21-year-old Hawk left winger gave him 27 goals and 30 assists for 57 points, already seven better than his total last year.

Horvath's goal, on a power play, left him only a point behind Hull. The tally was No. 29.

Bruins had an edge in play, but Chicago goalie Glenn Hall handled the tough chances well. He made 32 stops, one more than Harry Lumley in the Boston net.

FIRST BALL DOWN GUTTER... BOWLING INTRODUCED

Shake It Off, Sir John, It Has Happened Before

LONDON (AP)—Strike and spare have joined double-top, googlies and leg before wicket as part of the Englishman's sporting vocabulary.

It started Wednesday night when 10-pin bowling was thrown open for the first time to the sports-loving British. Fourteen alleys were opened in a converted London theatre.

There were plenty of instructors around to give tips. Some bowlers heaved the 16-pound ball on to the next alley as they attempted to get the hang of the game.

"It all looks deceptively easy," said British cricket star Alec Bedser. "But you need rhythm and practice like in golf." Bedser rolled a strike with his fifth ball.

Such phrases as double-top in darts and cricket's googlies and leg before wicket have been popular for many years. And British newspaper writers forecast bowling soon will sweep the country. Plans are under way for installation of alleys at four towns near London with orders on the south coast and in Scotland.

The grand opening had the look of a London film premier. Movie actor Douglas Fairbanks, representative of United States bowling equipment manufacturer, cut a tape opening the alleys.

Sir John Hunt, leader of the Mount Everest conquest in 1953, rolled the first ball—a golden one.

It went down the gutter.

Cougars 5, Flyers 0

By DOUG PEDEN

Hal Laycoe may have been right.

Ten days ago the Victoria manager-coach suggested that the Cougars were in a mild slump although they had broken even in their previous nine Western Hockey League games, with four wins, four losses and a tie.

"Every hockey team has a bit of a slump during a season," said Hal, "and this could be ours. We're liable to snap out of it at any time." Since then the Cats have been flying. They have won three straight games and although they may be in a bit of a rut, nobody is more pleased than the Cougar boss.

The rut happens to be the three-game habit of scoring five goals per night, which is a happy hockey hollow to be mired in.

Cougars collected their five-goal quota Wednesday night and convinced 2,566 Memorial Arena fans that anything resembling a slump is a thing of the past. They stretched the win streak and consolidated their grasp on third place by drubbing the touring Edmonton Flyers 5-0.

Victory lifted the Cats five points in front of the fourth-place Flyers and within nine points of the front-running Vancouver Canucks. But they stayed four back of the runner-up Seattle Totems, who were hammering out a 7-5 win at Spokane.

Laycoe's crew fashioned the triumph by the simple method of overpowering the rugged Flyers, who appeared ready to make their usual late season rush when they started their current road trip but have now lost the first three outings on their Coast safari.

Solid, All-Around Effort By Cats

Cougars probably came as close to playing a perfect game as any club operating in Memorial Arena for many seasons. Held off the scoresheet for 26 minutes only by the stubborn and spectacular net-minding of Dennis Riggins, they broke through for two second-period goals and wrapped up the decision with three in the final period.

Busiest man on the ice as the Cats buzzed steadily around his cage, Riggins ended up with a total of 44 saves, including 16 in the second period.

At times so disorganized by the Cougars' fine checking, passing and skating that they seemed to be moving aimlessly at half speed, the Flyers still managed 26 shots at goalie Marcel Pelletier.

Holder of the league record of eight shutouts in one season, Marcel was somewhat fortunate to escape damage when he misjudged, a couple of long, high shots, but he came up with some great blocks on close-in drives as he registered his second, white-wash job of the campaign, and trimmed his league-leading goals-against average to 2.49.

The line of Gordie Fashoway, Art Jones and Arnie Schmutz gave Riggins the most trouble and collected four of the Victoria goals. Fashoway opened the scoring and added his 17th goal of the season in the third period. Schmutz also fired his 17th and added three assists and Jones picked up goal No. 25 and an assist.

Power Play Produces Two Goals

Gordie Haworth got the other tally on a solo effort from a faceoff in the Edmonton end.

Cougars made their power play pay off for two goals. Fashoway got his second tally 30 seconds after Forbes Kennedy had been called for hooking and Jones connected only seven seconds after Hugh Coffin had been thumbed for hooking.

Although failing to crack the scoring ice, the unit of Don Blackburn, Doug Anderson and Doug Macaulay also turned in a standout effort.

Blackburn, improving on a diet of regular duty, was in for several good chances. Anderson had an almost unbelievable miss when he poked a puck lying behind Riggins, sprawled after making a save. The puck slid across the open goal, hit the far post and stayed out.

Laycoe, beaming today over the efficiency of his Cats, was still worried that he might not be able to keep the club fired up for a Friday night date with the Canucks at Vancouver and a Saturday bout at Memorial Arena with the Totems.

If all goes well Friday, the Cougars could be battling Totems Saturday for a share of second place.

Pro-Am Is Appetizer At Crosby's Clambake

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Winds and the probability of rain today heralded the opening round of the $50,000 Bing Crosby golf tournament with its bulky field of 150 professionals and 150 amateurs.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour whipped this picturesque Monterey Peninsula Wednesday as hopefuls fired their final practice rounds over the three courses played in the tournament—Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Monterey Peninsula.

"I just hope it goes down," observed Jay Hebert, who won the event in 1957, a year that also saw wind and rain.

Hebert and his amateur partner, Roger Kelly of Los Angeles, won the pro-amateur division in 1958 and finished second last year.

The Canadian contingent is headed by Stan Leonard of Vancouver, taking his first crack at the 1960 winter tour. He left Vancouver last week to pick up the gypsy pros.

National Tourney For Fivepin Bowlers

TORONTO (CP)—Organization of a national fivepin bowling championship with play-offs in every region is being planned.

The 60 finalists will meet in Toronto May 23-28 to decide a champion. Nearly $10,000 in prizes is offered.

Front-Runners Upset

Front-running Elks of the Inter-Club Snooker League were upset 9-3 by Britannia Legion, Monday, in one of three games played. Pro Pats tied 6-6 with Tillamook, and Eagles edged Army and Navy, 7-5.

Bulldogs Put Bite On Russ Tourists

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Without exerting themselves too strenuously, Windsor Bulldogs defeated Moscow Selects 6-2 before a capacity crowd of 5,400 last night. It was Selects' third straight loss in a 10-game Canadian tour.

Bulldogs took a 3-0 first-period lead, outscored the Soviet squad 3-1 in the middle period then coasted while Selects outplayed and outscored them 1-0 in the final 20 minutes.

Selects, who now head for Western Canada for the remainder of their tour, again displayed their fast-skating, crisp-passing style but lacked finesse and high-powered shooting ability when in the Windsor zone.

Irwin Gross sent Windsor into a 1-0 lead in the first minute and Tom Walker boosted the edge to two goals at 6:09. Defenceman Len Speck barged home a 30-foot slapshot for Bulldogs before the period ended.

Walker, with his second, and Bobby Brown clicked before Igor Devonsky registered the Russian club's first goal at 15:09 of the second period. Moments later, John Utendale's shot glanced in off a Select defenceman's boot for the final Windsor goal.

The Russians almost completely controlled the puck in the final period. Alex Guryshv scored the only goal of the period while Windsor's Gord Haidy sat out a charging penalty.

Wilt Chamberlain sparked the Philadelphia Warriors to a 129-123 victory over Syracuse Nationals with 33 points and also cleared 31 rebounds.

However, high scorer of the night was Boston's Tommy Heinsohn who tallied 43 points to lead the Celtics to a 144-126 win over New York Knickerbockers.

In Cincinnati, St. Louis Hawks pulled away from the home town's Royals in the last 4 1/2 minutes for a 119-108 triumph.

However, high scorer of the night was Boston's Tommy Heinsohn who tallied 43 points to lead the Celtics to a 144-126 win over New York Knickerbockers.

Paul Sorry Now

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Pender, who meets Sugar Ray Robinson for one version of the world middle-weight boxing championship Friday night, says he regrets a long-ago decision to become a professional fighter.

"If I were 17, I'd be looking at the glamour and the challenge," he says. "Today, looking at it from an adult point of view, I say that advising anyone to be a fighter is the last thing I'd do."

Pender, 29-year-old fireman from Brookline, Mass., is the 10th-ranked challenger. He will fight Robinson, 39, and five times holder of the middle-weight crown, in a nationally-televised bout for a version of the title recognized only in Massachusetts and New York. Robinson is favored by about 4 to 1.

Pender said he expects to win but is sorry he became a professional boxer.

"NOT GOOD"

"Truthfully, I got involved before I knew what was happening. It's not good for a family man. He could get a permanent injury—like going blind. And don't forget, I have two children."

"I wonder if any professional athlete enjoys his work. Everything is more of a chore. The love of sport is replaced by the love of money. It becomes just a job. I find that looking back over what I should have done is depressing."

Pender's 10-year career has been interrupted three times by brittle hands but each time he has made a comeback. This, however, is the last one, he said.

"This fight with Robinson is what I've been holding on for. I'll probably win the title and the monetary rewards. But this is my last comeback."

The National Boxing Association, stripped Robinson of world recognition for inactivity. It rates Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, as king.

MOON GETS RAISE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Outfielder Wally Moon, whose timely hitting and all-around play helped Los Angeles Dodgers to the National League pennant last year, is getting an $8,000 pay increase.

Moon signed a 1960 contract Monday that is understood to call for $30,000.

SOCCKER SLAVERY?

ISPWICH WON'T LISTEN TO BARITONE'S BALLAD

LONDON (CP) — Bobby Johnstone, probably the best baritone in the Football League, is looking for a club that doesn't mind hearing a halfback who sings for his supper.

He managed to combine the two occupations in Canada last summer, belting out songs in Montreal and going to Toronto to play soccer on weekends.

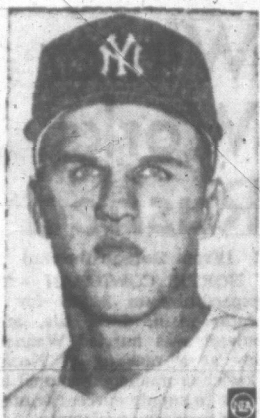

But when he asked Ipswich Town for permission to make similar arrangements for the winter months, the second-division club put him on the transfer list.

Johnstone complains that he has become a victim of soccer slavery. He told a London newspaper:

"It's the biggest game in the world. Yet, in this country, the last man who makes anything is the player himself."

Leading players receive up to £20 a week plus win bonuses.

Johnstone, a 24-year-old Scotsman, now is waiting for the results of a screen test that could lead to a film career.

SLUGGING but off-injured first baseman Moose Skowron Wednesday became first to sign 1960 New York Yankee contract. He'll play next American League baseball season for estimated $23,000, the same salary he received last year.

AFTER LOUSY YEAR

He's Got $35,000 But Can't Buy Stamp

NEW YORK (AP) — Ball players are strange people. Take Whitey Ford, for instance.

The New York Yankees' premier left-handed pitcher received his 1960 contract in the mails yesterday. He looked at the salary figures and blinked. He took a better and longer look. Yes, the figures were large and clear—$35,000—the same salary he received last year.

"The first thing I did," Ford said today, "was search around the house for a stamp. I thought sure the front office had made a mistake. I was going to sign that contract and get it back to them as fast as I could before they changed their minds."

Noting the surprised look on the listener's face, Whitey suddenly asked:

"What do you think? Should I have gotten a cut?"

"Well," said the listener, hunting a tactful reply, "I don't know. You did win 16 games while losing 10 and your 3.04 earned run average wasn't bad."

"Aw, who are you kidding?" chided Ford. "I had a lousy year. I didn't win a big game all season. Who did I beat? Kansas City and Washington?"

"You know, I've had some pretty good years with the Yankees. I never won 20 but that never bothered me. That's because I won the big ones. I knocked off the contenders. I beat Chicago and Cleveland, the teams the Yankees had to beat to win pennants. I didn't do that last year."

"Now something," he asked, "I'm determined to pay the Yankees back. I'm going to win those big ones next season. Just wait and see. I'm going to be the old Whitey Ford again. I'm going to get into the best condition of my life."

"Those Yankees showed me something. They've got class... they've got understanding... they've got loyalty. I'd be a heel if I didn't show them that their confidence in me is justified."

By the way, had the contract been mailed back to the Yankee office?

"No," replied Whitey, "I couldn't find a stamp."

Easy to Talk to Early, But Mick Won't Listen

By United Press International

Early Wynn, 40-year-old ace of Chicago White Sox, laughingly said today he'd like to keep pitching until he's 50 and added — minus any smile at all — he'll be shooting to win 20 games again in '60.

Wynn made the statements from Mercy Hospital in Chicago where he is undergoing an annual checkup and where he signed his new White Sox contract Wednesday which calls for an estimated $45,000.

"Maybe I can keep going as long as Satchel Paige," grinned the burly right-hander, who won 22 games last year and was rewarded for it with "a good raise."

Wynn, with 271 major league victories to his credit already, would like nothing better than to surpass Lefty Grove's 300 lifetime victories. Grove was the only pitcher to reach that total during the lively ball era.

Wynn's signing was a relatively easy matter.

"Bill Veck came up to see me," he said. "We gassed about a lot of things for a while and then talked contract. How long did it take? Less than 10 minutes."

New York Yankees won't have things quite that easy with Mickey Mantle.

From his home in Dallas, Mantle said the Yanks cut his salary "too much" and he had sent his contract back unsigned. Mantle didn't disclose any figures but it was believed he was asked to take an $11,000 raise from his $78,000 salary last season.

First to sign with the Yankees was first baseman Moose Skowron. He'll play for $23,000.

Red Schoendienst also revealed he had returned his contract to Milwaukee Braves without signing it. The veteran second baseman took the maximum 25 per cent cut last year before undergoing surgery for tuberculosis and apparently is being asked to accept another cut now. Neither he nor general manager Johnny McFall "anticipate any major problem," however.

Chicago Cubs, bidding to become the first club with all its players signed, announced they have only three more left to go with the acceptance of terms by pitchers Steve Ristic and Al Schroll. Only Cub players still unsigned are pitcher Art Cecorelli, catcher Cal Neuman and infielder Harry Bright.

Don (Perfect Game) Larsen, recently traded by the Yankees to the Athletics, signed his Kansas City contract with no haggling whatsoever and first baseman Vic Wertz said he has come to terms with Boston Red Sox.

Los Angeles Dodgers signed catcher John Roseboro and veteran outfielder Carl Furberg.

14,182 Fans? He Can Afford To Be Generous!

TORONTO (CP) — Conn Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, has given $2,000 to Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Canada's Olympic representatives, to help them reach their $17,000 expense quota.

The money will come out of the Garden's share of the gate receipts from Tuesday night's game between Whitby Dunlops and Moscow Selects, which Whitby won 9-1.

The game attracted a sellout crowd of 14,182 fans.

Wrecking Crews Set to Step In

NEW YORK (AP) — Wreckers will move into Ebbers Field next summer to start destroying what once was the home of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The largest single apartment house in the city will go up there. The building will cost more than $22,000,000 and will provide apartments for 1,317 families.

The Dodgers moved to Los Angeles after the 1957 season.

Other officers named this week were Wallace Cattel, of Dundas, Ont., president; Merv Ferguson, of Vancouver, and Ed Blair, of Streetsville, Ont., vice-presidents, and Tom Gordon, of New Westminster, secretary-treasurer.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Marlene Stewart matched par 76 Wednesday for medalist honors in the qualifying round of the 28th annual Helen Lee Doherty women's amateur golf tournament.

The Fonthill, Ont., native had four birdies on the 6,041-yard Coral Ridge Country Club course, where wind sent scores soaring.

Barbara McIntire, the United States national women's amateur champion, and Mrs. J. J. Miller, of Hot Springs, Ark., were tied behind Marlene with 78's.

The tournament goes into 18-hole match play today, with two rounds scheduled Friday, semi-finals Saturday and a 36-hole final Sunday.

'ANYTHING YOU CAN DO, WE CAN DO BETTER...

RIDGELEY, W. Va. (AP) — Ridgeley High School played control basketball Tuesday night in an effort to upset Piedmont High, undefeated in nine previous games.

It didn't work. Piedmont won 10-7. Ridgeley started the stalling and freezing tactics and Piedmont went along, content to hold the lead. The winners led 2-0 at the end of the first quarter, 6-2 at the half and 8-3 at the third-quarter mark.

Bert's Big Chair Still Unoccupied

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (CP) — National Football League owners made another bid today to settle on a new commissioner to succeed the late Bert Bell.

They got nowhere Wednesday. Progress, if any, was an increase in the number of men considered for the post. There were two names on the first ballot and six hours later three more had been added.

The original candidates, as expected, were acting commissioner Austin H. Gunesel and lawyer Marshall Leahy of San Francisco. The original ballots showed Leahy in front 7 to 5. At one point he polled eight votes, one shy of the nine necessary for election.

Through a succession of ballots the names of Paul Schisler, special events director of the Los Angeles Times, Edwin J. Anderson, president of Detroit Lions, and Don Kelleit, general manager of the league champion Baltimore Colts, were added to the list.

As midnight neared, the owners, seeing no break in the deadlock, adjourned until today. The eighth and final ballot showed Leahy with seven votes and Kelleit with four as the names of Gunesel, Schisler and Anderson disappeared. One owner did not vote.

The fadout of Gunesel and the emergence of Kelleit as a candidate for the $50,000-a-year job were surprises.

Gunesel has been acting commissioner since Bell died last fall.

'PUFFER' EXCURSIONS TO PROMOTE UNIVERSITY

G. E. BONNER

COBBLE HILL — Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association is planning the use of excursion trains to help the cause of the University of Victoria, VIRA president George E. Bonner said today.

"What we plan to do is run a train from Victoria to Courtenay and back," he said. "We will call it the Victoria University train. It will help to get people using the railroad and seeing the Island, and profit earned will be turned over to the university."

The association is fully in favor of development of the university in Victoria, he said.

Plans now call for the association to get from 500 to 600 persons interested in making the one-day trip. Special rolling stock from the mainland will be needed, he said, and the Canadian National Railway will be asked to bid on the excursion.

"The CNR has running rights over the E and N Railway," Mr. Bonner said.

Tentative date for the excursion is late June, he said. A similar trip to Harrison Hot Springs is being considered for later in the year.

$250,000 Breakwater Sought for Chemainus

(From Duncan Bureau)

Chemainus-Crofton Chamber of Commerce will send a brief to the federal department of public works and to all Vancouver Island MPs urging construction of a breakwater at the entrance to Chemainus Harbor.

The brief recommends construction of a rock-filled breakwater running east from Hospital Point.

Figures on the cost are not given, but estimates run as high as $250,000.

Construction of the breakwater would, according to the brief, make the harbor a safe and secure anchorage both summer and winter. Tugs and small craft could then be serviced without damage to life and property, and owners would be able to keep their vessels moored the year round. It would also provide an additional 3,000 feet of safe moorage and space for an unloading ramp for trailer-towed boats.

Backing up the breakwater brief are statistics on Chemainus harbor and its industrial investment, now totalling more than $16 million.

It states that more than 100 deep-sea ships call at Chemainus each year to load lumber at the MacMillan and Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. sawmill, second largest in Canada. More than 1,000 small craft used the port last year to clear customs, stop for supplies, and take on ice, but as many as 500 others by-passed the port because of the lack of a safe moorage.

HUGE REVENUE

Harbor dues paid between January, 1954, and December, 1959, totalled $52,991.

The brief concludes: "From all sources, the federal government has received millions in revenue from Chemainus over the years, but all there is to show is one government wharf, one spar buoy and one gas flasher light at the entrance to the harbor. There is not one permanent government structure here to show for 99 years of progress. Even the post office and customs office are rented property."

Divers Go Deep In Hunt for Jet

A six-man diving team from Esquimalt today began a search in Georgia Strait for an RCAF CF-100 jet fighter which crashed early Tuesday morning.

The plane, from the Comox RCAF Station, struck the water about six miles south-east of the airport.

Forest Adviser Chosen

(From Duncan Bureau)

Frank G. Rainsford, Victoria, was named Wednesday by North Cowichan municipal council as temporary forestry consultant to undertake a survey of the 9,000-acre municipal forest reserve.

Mr. Rainsford is forestry consultant for the Mayo Lumber Company, council head.

Council plans to undertake the management of its own forest reserve as a tree farm on a sustained-yield basis. The plan prepared by former Reeve C. A. P. Murison over a four-year period.

Hearing Set On Re-Zoning

NORTH COWICHAN — A public hearing to consider applications to amend the municipal zoning bylaw will be held Feb. 10 at 8 p.m. in North Cowichan Municipal Hall.

"We have eight applications for rezoning of different areas and I feel a zoning hearing should be held as soon as possible," Reeve D. C. Morton said Wednesday.

An area of North Cowichan's waterfront is specifically zoned in on the north side of Cowichan Bay. The council has heard delegations speaking both for and against rezoning of the land.

Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce had asked previously for North Cowichan's policy on industrial use of foreshore.

Chemainus and Crofton waterfronts are zoned for commercial use, Smith and Maple Bays for recreational use, and Cowichan Bay use has yet to be settled.

FIRST OF CPR'S West Coast "Princess" fleet to get annual clean-up, paint-up and survey is Marguerite, shown here at Belleville dock. She will go to sea early in February as "swing ship" relieving others in the Nanaimo-Vancouver and Victoria-Vancouver service while they, in turn, undergo spring refits before peak summer travel season. (Times photo)

SOOKE—Annual All-Sooke Day celebration will be held at Sooke River flats July 23.

Opening event will be the annual Victoria-Sooke marathon on the evening of July 22. Loggers' sports will be the main attraction on the following day.

Two Boys Find Clues In Big Jewel Theft

NANAIMO—Jewelry cases, cheques, and money orders taken in a $15,000 theft at Peoples' Credit Jewellers Friday night or Saturday morning were found Wednesday by two young boys on the highway one mile north of Nanaimo River.

Also found, at the CPR terminal, was a suitcase used by the thieves to carry away their loot.

RCMP investigating the robbery have listed all tools found at the scene, and have asked that anyone able to identify them call police immediately. They are: Single-bitted axe, size 3½.

marked "Western Germany" in grease pencil; new four-pound sledgehammer marked "Locksocket—British made"; new "Mayhew—Pressure Grip 1510-10" screwdriver; new 10-inch Stanley screwdriver, and new three-foot wrecking bar.

6 Months Jail For Break-In At Freight Office

(From Duncan Bureau) Frank Norris, 19, of Westholme, pleaded guilty in Duncan police court Wednesday to a charge of breaking and entering the West Coast Freight office in Duncan April 21 last year and was sentenced to six months.

He was arrested in Nanaimo this week for the theft of two boxes of apples, and when his fingerprints were taken they were found to tally with prints taken at the freight office.

Gasper Jimmy, 20, of Duncan, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted car theft Tuesday, and was sentenced to nine months in jail. Police said he had a record of five previous convictions for indictable offences in the last five years.

$3,000 MUNICIPAL FUND PROPOSED

Sports Council Plan Hailed

(From Duncan Bureau)

NORTH COWICHAN — A proposal Wednesday that North Cowichan municipality set aside $3,000 for a sports council was termed by Reeve D. C. Morton as "one of the most progressive things said in this council in a long time."

In introducing the idea, Coun. A. Staples said he had given it consideration since May, 1959, had talked to service clubs, Parent-Teacher Association and church groups, and believed there was need to foster amateur sports in the area.

"It is not being put in the form of a motion now—just an advance warning before we prepare to discuss the budget," Coun. Staples said. The amount would cost less than one-eighth of a mill, he said.

"I know there will be difficulties with the three governing bodies in the municipality and the fact that the large centres of population are well separated," Coun. Staples said. He spoke of the "crying need" for a skating rink and for support of various amateur sports that had virtually disappeared.

"The initiative and drive should be taken by the municipal council," he said.

"The scheme must be administered in such a way that we are not spending the taxpayers' money in some foolish enterprise," Reeve Morton added. "If people will meet with the intention of ironing out their problems they can be solved."

Winter Works Rushed

(From Duncan Bureau)

NORTH COWICHAN — An expenditure of $4,625 for a water main, drain tile, and culvert was hurried Wednesday at a meeting of North Cowichan municipal council in order to supply current winter work program projects.

"If we don't get the material in time we won't be able to do the manual work under terms of the program," said Coun. A. Staples, public works chairman.

Projects include replacing a leaking Chemainus water main at a cost of $1,900, and installing a $1,650 culvert to replace a wooden bridge.

PROGRAM INCREASED

Coun. Staples reported that 124 man-days of winter employment were supplied by the municipality during December. The program has been increased in January with 163 man-days spent on the Chemainus park, Chemainus waterworks, Maple Bay waterworks, and Centennial Park.

"Sixteen men have been given work, and more will be given an opportunity as the program goes along," Coun. Staples said.

$9,000 Horse Barn

DUNCAN — Directors of Cowichan Exhibition Association have approved plans to build a $9,000 horse barn this year on the exhibition grounds.

Federal and provincial agriculture departments will bear about two-thirds of the cost.

Convict Admits Helping Police

(Compiled From CP)

VANCOUVER — A convict testified in court Wednesday he provided police with evidence to use against two men charged with murder.

The man, who identified himself as Robert Boyle, 33, was testifying in the preliminary hearing of Chadwick Campbell, 34, and Lloyd Storey, 26, charged with murdering watchman Vaino Alto in September.

Magistrate Oscar Orr committed Campbell and Storey for trial at the Spring Assizes.

Boyle is at present appealing a seven-year sentence he received in county court in August for possessing stolen goods.

He testified he spoke to Campbell in the exercise yard of Oakalla Prison and passed on certain information to Constable Al Richards of the RCMP's criminal division in Vancouver.

Thereafter he kept careful notes of conversations he had with Campbell, Storey and another man.

He said under cross-examination he had never given evidence against anyone else and was only testifying in this case because he wanted to quit crime. But he later admitted to defence counsel Angelo Branca that he received about $500 from Constable Richards for information in other criminal cases.

Boyle said he was promised he would not be sent back to the B.C. penitentiary after this case.

"It would be detrimental to my health after this (evidence)."

$30,000 FIRE

VANCOUVER — A spectacular fire raced through Fraser-view Community Centre early today, causing damage unofficially estimated at $30,000. No injuries were reported.

The blaze, which broke out at the front of the building, left the walls and roof intact but destroyed gymnasium and kitchen facilities. Cause of the fire was not known.

VETERAN CONVICTED

VANCOUVER — A 32-year-old Korean War veteran who twice faced a murder trial in connection with the shooting death of his wife was convicted Wednesday of manslaughter and remanded for sentence.

Raymond Leonard Schultz was charged following the Oct. 4 slaying of his wife, Lois, in an east end apartment. An assize court jury failed to reach a verdict last month and a new trial was ordered.

During testimony in his defence Schultz said that on the day of the slaying he began drinking at 8 a.m.

RADIO BID

VANCOUVER — The Board of Broadcast Governors, holding hearings here Wednesday, received an application for a licence to establish a new AM radio station at Terrace.

The application was presented by J. Fred Weber on behalf of a company to be incorporated.

Mr. Weber said the new station would serve an area along an open, wide valley running 30 miles between Terrace and Kitimat. Total population of the area is about 15,000.

Scurrah Defends Demand For School Site Payment

Mayor Percy Scurrah struck back Wednesday at criticism by outside municipal officials against the city's attempt to get paid for the 11-acre site of S. J. Willis Junior High School.

The city decision to demand compensation, some $51,000 representing the 1949 value of the land when the board built the school on the city's property, was blasted by Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch, Saanich Deputy Reeve George Austin and Esquimalt Coun. G. K. Sammon.

To Reeve Murdoch's contention that if Victoria collects for the S. J. Willis property Oak Bay will collect for the Willows, Monterey and Oak Bay High school sites, Mayor Scurrah replied that the Greater Victoria school board was required by law to purchase the city land but not the Oak Bay sites because they were developed in the days before the unified board.

He also said that Saanich's objection was met by the fact that Victorians will be paying the assessed value and not market value for school sites which will put 13 or 14 new schools within Saanich municipality.

Coun. Sammon's statement away the Macdonald Park that Esquimalt charged only school site for $1.

WHO WANTS TO WORK IF NO-JOB PAYS MORE?

OTTAWA (CP) — Company layoff-benefit plans that could make being out of work more attractive than being at it are under study by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The situation has come about through a gradual increase in levels of supplemental unemployment benefit programs drawn up in some company-union negotiations, a commission official said Tuesday night in an interview.

Mainly affected are auto makers and their feeder companies — often subjected to annual slowdowns or layoffs.

There have been "one or two examples of the situation" where a worker — if he could collect both commission and company benefits — would do better off the job than on, the official said. But full commission benefits in these cases were refused.

Kitimat Denies Starting Wage Spiral, Labor Unrest

VANCOUVER (CP)—An executive of the Aluminum Company of Canada said here his company's 1951-54 Kitimat construction project was not the trigger that set off a spiral of wage-rate increases and labor unrest in British Columbia.

F. T. Matthias of Montreal, director of engineering and construction for Alcan and president of Saguénay-Kitimat Company, made the statement in an address to the Vancouver Board of Trade.

"It has been stated frequently," he said, "that the Alcan project triggered a spiral of wage-rate increases and labor unrest that is even now plaguing British Columbia. . . . I find nothing in the record to substantiate that claim."

Mr. Matthias displayed graphs and charts showing various wage rates during the period 1947 to 1959. One showed the period of Alcan construction at Kitimat and Kemano, where hydro power and aluminum processing plants were established between 1951 and 1954 with the peak construction coming in 1952 when roughly 19,000 construction employees were on the project.

He said the figures were taken from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and other authoritative sources.

"It is a fact," he said, "that in the four-year period of the Alcan project . . . the sum of the annual percentage increases in construction wages was 14.8 per cent."

" . . . In the four previous years, the comparable increases totalled 36.2 per cent and the four following years totalled 22 per cent."

He said some rates negotiated for the trades in 1953 for Kemano construction were lower than rates negotiated in Vancouver.

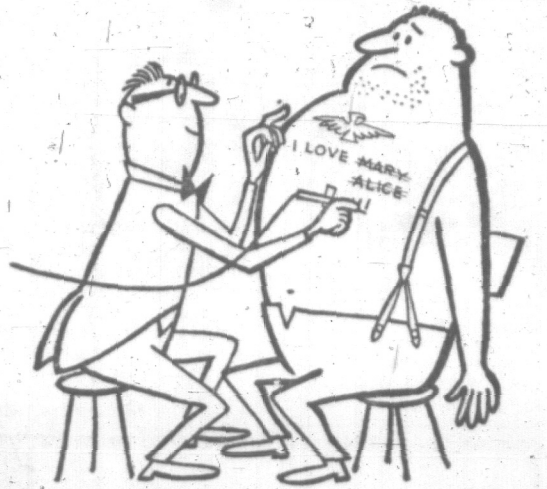

Speaking of the labor situation generally, Mr. Matthias said "we have come almost to accept the idea that an annual increase in wages is about as inevitable as death and taxation."

SAVE THETIS LAKE PLEA BY ARBORETUM SOCIETY

The Victoria Arboretum Society Tuesday unanimously endorsed a resolution opposing the alienation of any part of Thetis Lake Park for any purpose other than "conservation and recreation."

The society in a letter submitted to the city today noted that Victoria's prosperity largely depended on its parks and green areas which are presently fast disappearing due to urban growth.

The city, including adjoining municipalities had not sufficient parks at present to preserve the natural beauty of the area which attracted people to the city, it said.

INDIAN SIGNAL POINT

'Death Curse' Lifted on B.C. Hill

COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP)—A 100-year-old Indian curse calling for the death of one white man a year was officially lifted Sunday.

All the white men who travelled over a hill in the lower mainland known as Cape Horn came under the curse — although they probably didn't know it.

The death-curse was shattered when Quekwatlen Thomas Williams, chief and last pure-blooded member of the Coquitlam Indian tribe, waved a gnarled hand skyward and chanted as he stood in full ceremonial dress in a snow-covered field here.

Cape Horn, as it was dubbed by early pioneers, borders the Loughheed Highway between Maillardville and Esson-dale, near Vancouver, and was used in the past by local Indians as a signal point.

Signal fires were lighted there to warn of danger from marauding tribes, says Chief Williams. It was so important to the Indians' safety that anyone found trespassing there was put to death. It was feared an authorized person might give a fatally wrong signal.

When the white man moved in he ignored the Indian custom and the tribal chief — Chief Williams' grandfather — ordered the tribe's witch doctor to put a curse on the stubborn pioneers.

"The Coquitlam tribe had good reason to put on the curse," said the chief. "A short time after the white man arrived the Haida Indians started a war that nearly wiped us off the earth."

It's impossible to say if the curse had any effect — but it is known that several white men have died in traffic accidents at the dangerous curve in the road by the hill.

Ike Urged to Extend Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported under mounting pressure today to expand his trip to Japan into a full-fledged peace and friendship tour of the Far East.

Government leaders of Formosa, South Korea, the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand and the Indochina states were understood to be hoping that Eisenhower will visit their countries after his Tokyo visit.

Some diplomatic officials believed it inevitable that Eisenhower would lengthen his tour, lest he injure the feelings of some friendly governments.

South Korea's Ambassador You Chan Yang quickly predicted Eisenhower would visit his country. Otherwise, he said, South Koreans "will feel very much slighted."

Thus far, however, the White House was reported standing firm on the president's decision to visit only Japan during his Far East swing.

The president announced his visit to Tokyo Wednesday as the climax to conferences with visiting Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi. He agreed to visit Japan about June 20, one day after ending his 10-day tour of Russia.

At the same time, Eisenhower invited Japan's Crown Prince Akihito and his young wife, Princess Michiko, to come to the United States.

Victorians 'Stuck' With Higher Gas Price

Greater Victoria motorists will continue to pay as much as 10.5 cents more than Vancouver drivers for a gallon of regular gas unless some company or operator brings in cheap U.S. gas by barge or some other means.

Local service station operators made this point today as Vancouver's price war continued.

Independent Vancouver operators have dropped the price to 30.9 cents per gallon. Some are selling at 33.9 cents while brand-name stations are selling at 35.9 cents. In Victoria regular gas sells for 41.9 cents.

Vancouver independents depend on tank-trucks to bring cheap gas from the U.S.

But Victoria operators can't take advantage of the low-cost U.S. gas because tank trucks cannot be carried on ferries with passengers and autos.

"Said one oil company spokesman: 'A company would have to start its own barge service and that is almost out of the question.'"

Said one local service station operator: "I wish somebody had the guts to do it. The price spread is too great."

CIDER-SIPPING HABIT URGED ON B.C. GROWERS

PENTICTON (CP)—British Columbia's fruit growers could help their profits by sipping cider and getting their friends to try it also, R. P. Walrod, general manager of Sun-Rype Products Ltd., said Wednesday.

In his annual report to the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, Mr. Walrod urged every grower to think of cider as a "critically needed outlet for significant quantities of processing apples, including delicious."

"Every one of you 3,500 growers is a potential salesman. If you would talk it up with your friends in B.C. and the Prairies, the sparkling cider habit would spread across western Canada more quickly and at less cost than any method we could devise."

Fired Pastor Denied Divinity of Christ

HAVERSTRAW, N.Y. (AP)—A Presbyterian minister has been removed from the church for denying the deity of Jesus Christ and the divine authorship of the Bible.

Rev. Harold J. Quigley, 47, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, said he was removed Tuesday by the Hudson Valley presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

A presbytery spokesman confirmed the dismissal Wednesday. The spokesman said the church's local ruling body, comprising lay and church leaders, voted 46 to 7 for Quigley's removal, effective immediately.

Quigley acknowledged that he came forward at his own request several weeks ago to read a paper to the presbytery in which he stated he "could no longer hold the Bible to be the word of God."

Boy-Meets-Girl Formula Urged for Lonely Oldsters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lonely-oldsters should try the boy-meets-girl formula and look forward to the prospect of love and marriage long after the normal retirement age, say two doctors who deal with the problems of aging.

The senior citizen should live it up, moderately at least, and forget about taking it easy, they added.

These ideas were put before a regional conference on aging in a press conference Wednesday by Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp of New York City and Dr. Alfred Auerback of San Francisco.

Klumpp, a member of the American Medical Association committee of aging, said that if medical science has drugs and methods which are reasonably sure to help the aged but haven't been proved 100 per cent, they should be used, even if occasional mistakes are made.

And he advised oldsters to "use all of your functions as long as you can; get as much mileage out of your body as possible; forget talk about slowing down, because inactivity means atrophy, or wasting away, of both mind and body."

Klumpp told of a Dane who did very well for more than 140 years. This fellow, he said, was Christian Jacobsen Dragenberg, who was born in 1626 and died in 1772. At the age of 111 the Dane married a woman of 60 and outlived her. At 130 he proposed to several women but was rejected. He lived another 16 years, during which his conduct was "far from blameless," but he simmered down at the age of 141 and died at 146.

"If one man can live a life as full as this," said Dr. Klumpp, "there is no reason why science cannot make it possible eventually for many of us to marry at 111, propose and be accepted at 130 and live to 146."

Immigrant Wins Plea

OTTAWA (CP)—Ludwig Czajka, 45-year-old Polish immigrant father of seven who was convicted last May of defrauding the city of Cornwall, Ont., of about $800 in welfare funds, will be permitted to remain in Canada.

Immigration Minister Fairclough announced Wednesday night that Czajka's appeal against a deportation order has been granted.

Mrs. Fairclough said in a statement that the Czajka family "has had a difficult time and suffered many hardships and misfortunes, including internment in a concentration camp."

Province 'Not Interested' In Buying Black Ball Ferry

The provincial government is "not interested" in a plan to sell Black Ball Lines Ltd. to the B.C. Toll Bridges and Highways Authority, an authoritative government source said today.

But he admitted that on several occasions Capt. Alex Peabody, head of the company, had discussed a possible sale with government officials.

The source said Capt. Peabody suggested either the government buy out Black Ball, or sell the new Sidney-Tsawwassen service to Black Ball.

"We are entering the ferry business only to provide connection between lower Vancouver Island and the mainland," the government source said. "We are doing so because of the decline in CPR service."

(The CPR last year withdrew its night steamers from the Victoria-Vancouver run, reduced winter service to one round trip daily.)

Another reason the idea of buying Black Ball is distasteful to the government is possibility of labor strife this year as two rival unions battle to represent Black Ball workers.

The government source also said another ferry company, Gulf Island Ferries, had discussed selling out, but the government is not interested.

Black Ball Ferries operates services from Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, to Horseshoe Bay, West Vancouver, and from Horseshoe Bay to Gibsons Landing and other points on the mainland coast.

The company is not to be confused with Black Ball Transport Inc., Seattle, which operates the Victoria-Port Angeles service.

Police Try to Smash Indecent Picture Ring

Saanich Chief Stumped

Pictures of young nude girls in Greater Victoria are being taken by "sexually deviate" photographers, Saanich Police Chief Bert Pearson said today.

The persons taking the pictures use the lure that there will be royalty returns if these pictures are used commercially, he said.

Chief Pearson said the situation here undoubtedly is a part of the illicit photo business that is conducted across the continent, possibly with organized crime at the root of it all.

"But there is often no financial benefit. People taking the pictures are on the sexually deviate side to a degree," he said.

He said there existed a picture "exchange system" between here and other parts of Canada and the U.S.

Nude pictures from other points were sold here, and vice versa.

"We haven't been able to prove this. However, they are distributed quite freely."

"We have photos in this office."

AT A LOSS

The Saanich police chief said that "at the moment" the department was at a loss to know how to prosecute.

His comments followed a published report that local high school and college girls were posing in the nude for prints, distributed to the smut market in the U.S.

In this area, the identity of two photographers and several models is on record, but police so far lack the full co-operation needed to bring charges under the Criminal Code, or in some cases, the Juvenile Delinquents Act.

TENDER YEARS

In reference to the latter, Chief Pearson said one of the models known to police is of extremely "tender years."

Photographers play upon the confidence of their models. A young girl posing for the first time would be asked only to remove part of her clothing, but as time goes by her poses become more and more nude and unabashed.

"This leads up eventually to indecent acts and promiscuity," Chief Pearson said.

'AMATEUR'

Examples of the pictures in police hands indicate that the photographers are strictly amateur.

One purveyor of pictures is known to arrange a catalogue of examples, each with an identification number, for shipment to some central office and distribution to a market area. Buyers then order pictures by number.

School officials and commercial photographers were quick to deny that they had ever heard of the practice.

Greater Victoria assistant superintendent of schools, Alex Turnbull, described the report as "a despicable thing."

'A VILE THING'

"We are indignant up here (at the school board). It is a vile thing."

Mr. Turnbull, however, did not deny that nude photography in schools could exist.

"There may be individual cases. It is certainly not prevalent. There is not enough truth in the report to warrant a wholesale indictment."

Dr. Harry Hickman, principal of Victoria College, said he had "never heard" of the situation amongst his students.

Principal of Victoria High School which has about 1,350 students, G. A. V. Thomson, said "there is nothing like that here, to my knowledge."

QUALIFIED

A freelance photographer, who said he would be in a position to know if nude photography of school girls existed, gave a qualified denial.

"It doesn't happen, as far as I know. I don't think there is any."

Pictures of nudes are being taken, he said, but of mature persons willing to pose.

Another photographer pointed out that no reliable firm would accept nude photographs unless accompanied by a "model release form."

'Action Group' For Auditorium

Mayor Percy Scourrah today announced appointment of a five-member auditorium committee equivalent to a civic royal commission.

The committee has a free hand to look into the civic auditorium question and bring back a positive recommendation to city council.

Named to the group are: Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. A. I. Curtis, B.C. Electric vice-president W. C. Mearns, Times music and drama critic Audrey Johnson and Sooke Lake Lumber Co. general manager Newton Cameron.

"This committee has an important job and I hope that all interested citizens' groups will give it the fullest co-operation during its investigations," the mayor said.

FREE HAND

"They have a free hand to investigate the whole auditorium question and bring in any recommendations to council."

Composition of the committee, which took weeks of study in itself, gives representation to city council, the business and cultural communities of the city.

The mayor also indicated that the committee will have free use of the city's engineering staff as technical advisers, led by architect Roderick Black.

Here's the background of the persons who may be the real architects of the long-sought auditorium:

Ald. Dowell is chairman of the city's other special project committee which is studying the need for a City Hall, including the possibility of a combined auditorium-City Hall development.

Ald. Curtis has more than a decade of public service behind him on both school board and council and was the driving spirit behind construction of the new main firehall.

Mr. Mearns, 50-year-old Victoria native, is a trained business administrator and engineer who has served on a number of organizations promoting community activities.

Mrs. Johnson was a member of the pioneer committee that led to formation of Victoria Art Gallery, a graduate musician and has directed stage productions by the Gilbert and Sullivan Society and the hit play "Amahal and the Night Visitors" produced for Christ Church Cathedral.

Mr. Cameron, a 43-year-old lumberman, has years of business experience in Victoria behind him.

The committee will appoint its own chairman and have power to add more members if needed.

"I'm hoping the committee will go right to work and gather all the information that is necessary in order that the public can intelligently assess the desirability of having a civic auditorium," said the mayor.

Prowlers' Antics Puzzling

Two Victorians were slightly shaken by the antics of an oddball prowler shortly after 1 a.m.

Mrs. M. Sharp, 1721 Quadra, told police at 1.05 that someone had just walked into her house, went into a room and left with a white blanket.

Twenty minutes later, A. Goodwin, 2312 Wark, phoned police to say a man had just walked into his upstairs room and when asked what he was doing there, the prowler replied:

"Don't worry; it's all right."

At this, Goodwin got out of bed and the visitor ran downstairs, driving off in a small black car.

The man was described as being of medium build, five feet, eight inches tall, and wearing a long black coat.

Police searched both areas without result.

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

What is your favorite memory?

A reference to happy memories in this column last Tuesday brings an unusual reminiscence from Rebel Mowat, popular Victoria sightseeing driver.

A few years ago Rebel took a party of 15 blind persons, all from the mid-western States, on a tour of this city. He treated them exactly as if they were sighted, giving out with his usual racy commentary on the different places they passed in the coach.

"They were so responsive I almost forgot they were blind," Rebel said. "They smiled and nodded, moving their heads from side to side as if looking at the things I mentioned."

"They had never been to the coast before, so I took them down to the waterfront. They were excited by the sound of the waves and dabbled their fingers in the salt water as it washed over the beach."

"Out at Butchart Gardens they discussed the colors of the trees and plants as I described them. I have never known a happier or more appreciative audience."

A memory of 50 years ago is treasured by Mrs. E. V. Brydon of White Rock, now staying with friends at Brentwood.

In July, 1910, Mrs. Brydon was one of a party of 165 Manitoba teachers who went to Britain on a tour arranged by Major Fred Ney, then secretary of the provincial education department.

It so happens that Major Ney is now visiting Victoria and I put Mrs. Brydon in touch with him. They are having a reunion at the Empress Hotel this afternoon, and would like to hear from any other teachers in this area who took part in the tour of half a century ago.

The staff at the Empress Hotel are having a big laugh over a letter which arrived from Oregon today. It was addressed to:

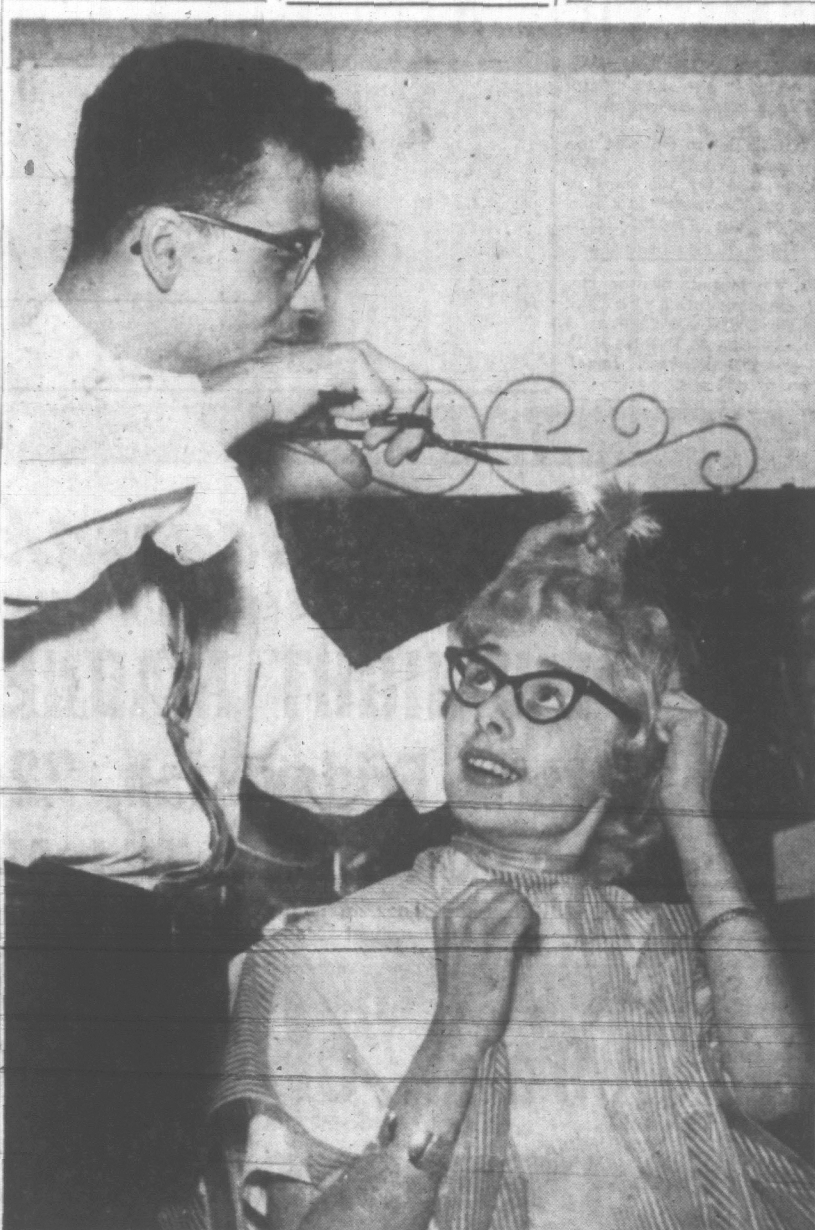

Mr. Charles Chaplin, manager, the Empress Hotel, Inner Harbor, Victoria Island.

"I didn't know I was that funny," laughed Cyril Chapman for whom the letter was intended.

Another Empress anecdote is told in the San Francisco Chronicle by columnist Herb Caen.

With alarming frankness Caen describes a visit to "the ancient hotel" by Ed Golden, a San Francisco insurance salesman, and tells how he was overawed by "its vast old lobby, heavy with silence, its big old chairs occupied by crusty antiquarians regarding the newcomers with rheumy eyes."

"At last," Ed whispered to his wife, "I know why they call it B.C.!"

DARE SHE JOIN THE CREW?

Will she or won't she? Pretty Bette Ann Davis, 17, is tearing hair about new fashion which hit hair-waves today: Crew cuts for ladies. Local coiffure stylist George Fayad, wielding scissors, does so under protest. He likes hair soft, feminine, not like army clip. Idea of crew-cut was started at Florence, Italy, fashion show where six lovely models had locks shorn to achieve "new look" for noggins. They said it went with spring-summer fashions now on review. (Times photo)

FRIDAY MEETINGS

He interned in Vancouver General Hospital, returned to Oregon for postgraduate surgical training, and has been practicing in Victoria three years.

SHIP FREED ON HIGH TIDE

The 85-foot heavy auxiliary vessel Songhee, which went ashore Wednesday afternoon in Nanos Bay, 15 miles north of Nanaimo, was refloated on a high tide at 9 a.m. today.

She had struck a sandbar but was not damaged. After completing her work at Nanos Bay she will return to her base at Patricia Bay.

1,700 Trees To Be Planted Before April

Biggest tree planting program in Victoria's history began this week.

About 1,700 trees will be put into city boulevards by April 1, city parks administrator H. W. Warren said today.

That includes 1,000 going in the James Bay area, 500 in other areas of the city and 200 to replace old or diseased trees.

We're concentrating on the James Bay area this year. We'll do 17 streets—about 20 have been done before—which will just about cover James Bay," he said.

BIGGEST YET

"This is the biggest program we ever have had. Boulevard planting became an important operation after the Second World War and it certainly has improved the city's looks tremendously."

The trees are planted about 50 feet apart. Holes are dug mechanically, stakes put in, new topsoil and fertilizer are added to give the trees a good start.

Total time takes about half an hour per tree.

First trees began going in on both sides of Boyd Street in James Bay today.

The various species to be planted this year include:

Acacia, red horse chestnut, red maple, cherry, mountain ash, elm, birch, flowering plum and red hawthorne.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Mrs. J. F. Sutherland, 59, of 2824 Wyndeville, was in "fair" condition today in St. Joseph's Hospital after fast action by a B.C. Telephone operator and Saanich police.

Wednesday the operator received an incoherent call from a woman. It sounded like trouble as the words were garbled.

She traced the call and notified police.

Mrs. Sutherland had placed the call after periods of black-outs and illness.

Police took the sick woman to hospital.

The Victoria Italian Assistance Society had donated $100 towards University of Victoria's fund-raising campaign.

Society president John Bianco said "this is just a start. We're going after more."

The society has 100 members.

E. D. Campbell was elected president of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway Veterans' Association at a recent meeting. Other officers are: H. B. Nash, first vice-president; G. D. Simmonds, secretary-treasurer; and assistant secretary-treasurer G. P. Gleeson.

A candlelight induction service for members of the YMCA Boys Department will be held in the YMCA this Friday at 7.30 p.m.

Purpose of the service will be to explain to boys, parents and friends the emblem and purpose of the YMCA.

After the induction, films showing the unique character of the YMCA in foreign lands will be presented.

Mayor Percy Scourrah today said the city's brief opposing a Pacific Western Airlines bid to take over the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle franchise has been completed and will be sent to Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillips, Defence Minister George Pearkes and Transport Minister George Hees.

Victoria College officials today advised immediate registration by mail for the new night course of 24 films on Canadiana which begins next week. Enrollment in the nine-session course is filling up fast. First meeting will be held Jan. 29 at 8 p.m. in the college and subsequent sessions will follow on various Fridays. Fee is $6.

Five members of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association will be presented with life memberships at a ceremony starting at 8 tonight. They are: W. Draper, John D. Burton, Arthur C. Hopwood, Ralph Evans and Albert Ashman.

Presentations will be made in the clubrooms, 1001 Wharf, by James McGivrin of Vancouver, Dominion president of the association, assisted by William Gorrie, provincial president.

The life memberships are given as a recognition of long service for the unit.

A speeding Saanich police ambulance taking a semi-conscious infant child to hospital was in collision with a private car at Hillside and Quadra at 12.40 p.m.

A second child, granddaughter of F. T. Smith, 3228 Kingsley, driver of the car, was taken to hospital by a city police detective who was passing by. She was identified as Shannon Smith, who was not believed seriously hurt.

Driver of the police patrol car was Const. Norman Baker, who was taking a mother and child to St. Joseph's Hospital. The child had fallen in an accident at home and the mother was desperately trying to keep the youngster awake during the frantic rush to hospital.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual "bosses' night" starting at 7 p.m. Friday in the Crystal Garden.

Main speaker will be John Fisher, executive director, Canadian Tourist Association.

He will deal with the future potential of the Canadian tourist industry.

It is expected about 60 employers of Jaycees will be present.

Aim is to acquaint "bosses" with chamber activities and enlist their support.

How Is the Family Boat? Good Paints Will Help

By PENNY SAVER

If you're married to a boatowner you've probably noticed signs of restlessness, may even have started displaying them yourself! It won't be too long before you'll be spending week-ends painting and getting the family boat in shape for this year's sailing.

Pet hate of a proud sailor is rust and corrosion that eats into metal fittings of his boat if given half a chance! Metal protective enamel paint that sells at $1.08 a half pint and comes in more than a dozen shades would help solve this problem.

Before applying, you'll want to put on a coat of the primer brought out by the same firm that not only prevents further damage but can be applied over surfaces already rusted. Primer is priced at 93 cents a pint. Small price to pay for protection!

There's also a spray type in enamel paint that sells for $1.75 for 16 ounces. Combination of primer and paint would also work wonders on metal garden furniture, playground equipment and ornamental ironwork.

Also in stock is an enamel yacht paint that was in great demand in Victoria when Prince Philip's Dragon was racing here last year. Store manager told me that it was impossible to keep in stock at that time.

Selling at $3.50 a quart, paint can be used for topsides, hulls, decks and interior cabin work. Sailing enthusiasts favor this paint because of its hard racing finish which cuts friction or drag to the minimum.

Anti-fouling paint is also brought out by the same firm. Red copper type sells for $3.65 a quart, white-green-copper is priced at $4.20 a quart.

Spar varnish is another item that the boatowner will be interested in. Varnish, which dries dust-free in four hours and is hard in eight, sells for $3.30 a quart.

For information on any of these items give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

HAVE YOU A PROBLEM?

By Sharing You May Find Solution and Help Others

Housewives! This column is yours! It's for your questions and also for answers you may have to questions other women ask.

Right now we need answers for questions sent in by interested readers. If you have solutions, no matter how unorthodox, share your knowledge with others.

Here are some of the questions: Mrs. M. Mills, 650 Brookleigh Road, Royal Oak, writes: Some six months after we painted our bathroom walls and ceiling with enamel, they began to develop hairline cracks and this situation gradually got worse as time went on. Could you tell us the cause and what we could do to remedy it?

A reader who merely signs "subscriber" has two problems: How do you remove a grease stain on the back of a rocking chair caused by someone leaning back on the chair with a cream oil on his hair? Also, how do you shine aluminum pans?

Mrs. L. A. M. asks: What can be done to renew or better the appearance of a black cast iron oil stove on a boat? The top is somewhat rusty and does not have a nice smooth shiny finish.

From Miss R. M. comes: Can you tell me how to remove glue spots (seccotine) from a rayon-silk material without injuring color or fabric?

Mrs. H. Waldorf, 3220 Service Street, would like to know if you can tell her where she can have the down in a comforter put into a new cover (not just re-covered). It is an expensive comforter and since sending to the cleaners is shedding the down. It is no longer down-proof.

W. K. asks: In case of papering a room where spots and stains appear on the present finish, will these show through the new covering? If so, what can be done to prevent this? Send your answers to the "Have You a Problem?" column, care of the women's department of this newspaper.

Your questions and your answers to other's questions will appear as received.

DEAR ABBY...

He's the One To Talk To, Son!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy with a big problem. I can't talk to my Dad because he is my problem.

I am pretty good at sports and made the baseball team last spring, and this year I made the football team at school. All the other boys have their Dads come to watch them play. My Dad has never once seen me play. He has the kind of job that takes him out of town better than half the time. He says he is working for his family but, Abby, we would rather have him home and making less money than have him gone so much.

How can I make him understand that I would just as soon have one pair of shoes and a second-hand suit if only he would stay home and be a Dad like other boys' Dads?

FATHERLESS

DEAR FATHERLESS: Dads aren't mind-readers. Tell him how you feel. Dads who travel for a living are frequently able to arrange their schedules so that they can be at home for "special events." Perhaps if you talked this over with your mother she could help you convince your Dad that his "presence" at home NOW is more important than his "presents" later.

***

DEAR ABBY: I have a brother-in-law who is so ignorant it isn't even funny. He signed all their Christmas cards, "Joe and Margaret." Shouldn't the lady's name always come first?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Not necessarily. It is correct to address letters "Mr. and Mrs. Blank." So why not sign a card, "Joe and Margaret"?

***

DEAR ABBY: There should be 11 Commandments. The 11th being: "No man shall take his wife to live next to his mother." I always thought talk about mothers-in-law was a lot of foolishness, but I learned better after living next door to mine for a year.

She is very nosy and tries to find out things that don't concern her (from my husband) when I'm not around. She carries tales from one daughter-in-law to another and when she has us all fighting she says what a pity it is that we can't get along. She has said things about others in the family while I kept my lip buttoned and then she said I said these things. Do I have a right to tell my husband that either we move or I move without him?

FED UP

DEAR FED: You have. With a mother-in-law like yours "distance lends enchantment."

In San Francisco

Mr. and Mrs. Alan J. Campbell returned to their Dallas Road home yesterday after spending the last three weeks in San Francisco. While there they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. Philip J. Bailey and Mrs. Bailey.

Fashion Show Indoors; Skating Outside

New York
Fat, fluffy snowflakes like white silk chiffon petals, a flawless expanse of ice like crisp white pique, skaters whirling like a draped bias cut skirt, this was the picture as we sat snug and warm at Cafe Francais, following Press Week performance of "The Miracle Worker" at Rockefeller Plaza.

Dick Button, Olympic figure skating champion, was star of the show. Anne Bancroft and Torin Thatcher, to whom we were introduced, were in the cast of this hit show.

Fashion show in the cafe was called "Cordial Collection" sportswear and leisure wear for the coming summer.

The McMullen Company has this year taken its inspiration for color and pattern from one of the country's largest distillers. Creme de Menthe, Creme de Cacao, Apricot Brandy and Blackberry Brandy are names of the drip dry imported cotton prints and luxurious solid color linens for resort or patio; for casual at home entertaining, or vacation and travel afar. From midnight to 1 a.m. we had a wonderful glimpse of what is ahead for the hot summer days.

LUNCHEON

We were guests at a luncheon in the Savoy Hilton Hotel when seven of the nation's best-hatted women, chosen from various categories of public life were presented Golden Hat Awards by the Millinery Institute of America.

Edith Head, world famous fashion designer for motion pictures, and a six-time winner of the Academy Award for film wardrobe design, made the presentations and served as commentator for the show.

Two of the winners, Doris Day, who is preparing a new film in Hollywood and Clare Booth Luce were unable to attend but each of the other winners spoke over the microphone.

I loved Joan Crawford's short speech. "This is the first time in my life that I have ever wished for two heads."

Edith Head remarked that being asked to present these awards was rather like asking Marilyn Monroe to present a girdle award. The latter is said not to have a girdle in her wardrobe and Miss Head has always been known for her aversion to hats. "She did say that she is going to become a real hat wearer in the future."

OTHER SHOWS

Harvey Bern's collection was young and deceptively simple with willowy, unstiffened figure contours. His "Coquette Silhouette" consists of a wide flaring overskirt slanting from above the knee at the front to the upper calf at the back with a romantic lace or tulle skirt beneath. The famed Bern walking dress is pencil slim this season, yet only faintly fitted. It often boasts an oval shaped skirt, gently puffed under at the hem. The full, deep cut sleeve appeals to this designer and is used very often.

Edward Abbot featured slim dresses moulded through the midriff from under flaring and cape-version sleeves, shoulder extending necklines and collars, and brief butterfly shrugs as coverage for spring and summer nights. He used a great deal of chiffon. A favorite in this group was "the cold shoulder dress" ... one covered shoulder and one bare.

Laos Truce Commission Described

WA to Cerebral Palsy Give $3,700 to Clinic

A cheque for $3,700 was presented to the board of directors of Victoria Cerebral Palsy Clinic by the Women's Auxiliary to the clinic at the fifth annual meeting, in the Medical Lecture Room at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. W. Ward, treasurer, made the presentation to vice-president and treasurer of the board, D. E. C. Anderson. The sum was raised in auxiliary projects last year.

In her annual report, the president, Mrs. C. Wallace, summarized these projects as membership tea, luncheon, home baking and lamp sales, bingo, tag day, teas, picnic, dance, gift bazaar, coffee party, and ticket sales at the Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition.

Receipts were $5,397.12, and disbursements $1,510.77 reported Mrs. Ward. The chairman of the volunteer committee, Mrs. D. Ascott, said 71 auxiliary members attended the clinic regularly to give voluntary aid and assistance in therapy, play and school rooms. A total of 7,727 hours of time was given by the volunteers last year.

The guest speaker, Dr. E. N. Boettcher, medical administrator at St. Joseph's Hospital, stressed the need of educating the public to the importance of rehabilitation of the handicapped.

"This is especially important in the employment line," he Engineers' Wives — B. H. Roberts gave a talk on "Africa, Land of Controversy," at recent meeting of the Engineers' Wives Association, Victoria branch. Gathering was held in the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria. After the address and a business session, refreshments were served under convenerhip of Mrs. R. C. Miller.

7,766-Mile Rocket 'On Target'

Ex-Ambassador Was Leader Here

All Canada today mourned the loss of Hon. Thomas Clayton Davis, a great national figure and resident of Victoria, who died early this morning in Vancouver apparently from a heart attack.

Tributes from far and wide bear testimony to his value to the nation.

Mr. Davis, who was 70 last Sept. 6, died suddenly at the home of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Buckfield, in Vancouver. He flew there from Victoria Wednesday afternoon and developed an illness en route.

Mrs. Davis, who had remained at their residence at 3605 Cadboro Bay, flew to Vancouver Wednesday night and was with her husband when he died.

It is understood he will be buried in his home town of Prince Albert, Sask.

Mr. Davis had a distinguished career as diplomat, jurist and politician, and his energies and abilities extended over many other fields of public service.

He won distinction as Canadian ambassador to China, West Germany and Japan—his last diplomatic post which he served from June, 1954 to 1957. He then retired to live in Victoria, but continued to take an active part in B.C. affairs.

Hon. T. C. Davis

Helping University Fund Drive

Just recently he plunged eagerly into the University of Victoria Building Fund drive and was appointed honorary chairman of the corporations division.

In this capacity he contacted persons and organizations all over Canada with a view to obtaining donations towards the $2,500,000 needed for the conversion of Victoria College into the University of Victoria.

Many of his friends believe that, if he had taken life more easily after his retirement, he would have lived longer.

'Complained About Sharp Pain'

The Times telephoned its editor in Ottawa this morning and gave Mr. Hutchison first news of Mr. Davis' death.

"This is terrible," the editor said. "Really, it makes me feel quite ill."

"And yet—we had some forewarning."

"When we got to the airport Tommy complained about a sharp pain between his shoulder blades. I suggested that he had some indigestion, and that it would go away."

"We sat together on the plane and he kept complaining of the pain all the way across to Vancouver.

"He was met by friends at Vancouver airport. We told him to take care of himself, shook hands, and bade him good-bye."

"Both Dot (Mrs. Hutchison) and I were worried about his condition. I recall saying to her: 'I don't like the sound of this.'"

Mr. Hutchison added his tribute to those of many public men who praised Mr. Davis' worth as friend and distinguished citizen.

Career Was 'Night and Day Job'

On Jan. 31, 1958, in an address to the English-speaking Union of this city, Mr. Davis said that Canada held "a unique position of respect and authority all over the world."

Reviewing his ambassadorial career, he described it as a "night-and-day job."

He described Australia as "lovely and amazing," praised the Chinese as having "an exceptionally fine sense of humor" and described Peking as "one of the finest cities in the world"; and of Japan, said: "It is a democracy today. In any future conflict it would be on our side."

The former ambassador also had a kind word to say about diplomatic receptions and cocktail parties, which he said "provided a useful means of meeting a lot of new people."

Of Irish-Canadian descent, Mr. Davis first entered politics in Prince Albert, where he was born on Sept. 6, 1889. He served as alderman, then mayor of Prince Albert, and was later elected a Liberal member of the Saskatchewan legislature. He held cabinet posts in both the Gardiner and Patterson administrations.

He was appointed Justice of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal in 1939.

Mr. Davis entered the diplomatic field in 1942 when he was appointed Canadian high commissioner to Australia, a post he held until June, 1946.

First Envoy to West Germany

In November, 1946, he was named ambassador to China. Four years later he became head of the Canadian mission to the Allied High Command in West Germany.

In 1941, on the resumption of diplomatic relations, he was named the first Canadian ambassador to the government of West Germany. He held that post until his appointment as ambassador to Japan.

Prince Albert was no more than a frontier town when Mr.

Davis was born and he grew up among men who remembered fights with the Indians.

He attended Prince Albert schools and St. John's College, Winnipeg, then studied law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. Soon after 1914 he entered law practice in Prince Albert.

Dr. Davis was elected to the Saskatchewan legislature in 1925 and sat as a private member until February 1926 when

Reds Score Bull's-Eye In Pacific

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union announced today it fired a multi-stage super-rocket 7,766 miles to within a mile and a quarter of its target in the central Pacific testing grounds Wednesday night.

The rocket was launched from an undisclosed site within the vast Soviet land mass, in what the official Soviet news agency said was the first in a series of shots aimed at "realizing space flights toward the planets of the solar system."

The giant missile's last powered stage, travelling at a speed of 16,156 miles an hour, entered "the dense layers of the atmosphere at an altitude of 30 to 60 miles and subsequently disintegrated and partially burned up," the Tass announcement said.

TRACKED BY SHIPS

The nose cone of the last stage was tracked down into the water by specially equipped Soviet ships stationed in the area about 1,100 miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands.

"As a result of measurements it was established that the rocket fell less than two kilometers (1,243 miles) away from the predetermined point, which confirms the high precision of the rocket's guiding system," Tass said.

The U.S. has claimed accuracy of within two miles on the roughly 5,000-mile flights of its Atlas missile. But Soviet figures, if correct, would indicate the Kremlin's newest multi-stage rocket is not only more powerful but also more accurate than the American Atlas.

Tass said the big rocket followed "strictly the calculated trajectory" intended for it.

ON RADAR

The nose cone of the last stage of the rocket was tracked during its flight in the atmosphere, and its contact with the water was registered by the ships' radar, optical and acoustic installations," the Tass announcement said.

"The launching was carried out at exactly the designated time. The flight of the rocket as a whole and the functioning of all its stages corresponded with the outlined program."

No dimensions of the big rocket were given. Neither did the Tass announcement specify whether the rocket was

PLANE 'VICTIM' CAUGHT

FBI Find Explosives In Mystery Man's Case

RUSSIA'S ROCKET AT A GLANCE

WHAT MOSCOW ANNOUNCED: The rocket travelled 7,766 miles and its nose cone hit within two kilometers (a mile and a quarter of the target). It travelled at about 16,156 miles an hour.

SIGNIFICANCE: The claimed range is more than 1 1/2 times the airline distance from Moscow to Washington. At the claimed speed, a military missile could travel from Murmansk to Los Angeles (5,175 miles) in about 20 minutes. The claimed accuracy would put the hit within 25 New York blocks of the target.

WHAT MOSCOW DID NOT ANNOUNCE: The size of the rocket, the type of fuel, the number of stages, the point of launching, or whether the nose cone was recovered.

FIRST CORROBORATION OF CLAIM: The defence department in Washington said the Russian rocket apparently did fall within the impact area described by the U.S.S.R. on Jan. 8. Apparently the United States had tracked the missile. The crew of an Australian airliner also said it saw an explosion in the test area.

FIRST U.S. REACTION: It was noted that President Eisenhower declared this year that in 14 firings over distances of more than 5,000 miles, the American Atlas had hit on the average within two miles of the target.

HOW THE ATLAS COMPARES: Its designed range is about 6,300 statute miles. At least two shots have exceeded this.

Sahara A-Test Zone Closed Off by France

PARIS (UPI)—France today closed off its Sahara atomic bomb test zone to aerial flight for 12 hours, effective at 12:45 a.m. EST (9:45 PST) Friday.

The announcement heralded the first of several expected trial runs on closing the test zone, but did not necessarily indicate that the actual bomb test itself was about to take place.

Informed sources in Paris had predicted that France will detonate its first atomic device in February, instead of March as originally planned.

The sources said the date was advanced because President Charles de Gaulle wants France to be a full-fledged nuclear power when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visits here March 15. Presently, only the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are members of the "nuclear club."

The test zone is centred near Reggane, 1,000 miles south-west of Algiers in the Sahara Desert of North Africa. It extends over an area more than twice the size of France.

Trade Included in Talks Between Kishi, John D.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Ministers Kishi of Japan and Diefenbaker of Canada, accompanied by their foreign ministers, today held what Mr. Diefenbaker described as a "general discussion of the international situation."

Less than an hour after his arrival from Washington in a Canadian government plane, Mr. Kishi entered Mr. Diefenbaker's office in the main Parliament Building for preliminary talks.

The meeting lasted about 45 minutes, 15 minutes longer than scheduled.

The Canadian Prime Minister told reporters later that he discussed the international situation generally and "the benefits that flow from mutual visits in alleviating world tensions."

Also covered were the Colombo Plan and what Mr. Diefenbaker referred to as "the need to support it and expand it to raise living standards in underdeveloped countries."

Both Canada and Japan are Colombo Plan members.

Another topic was "the desirability of expanding trade."

During an interview at the Japanese Embassy in Washington Wednesday night, Kishi called on Canada to increase purchases of Japanese goods. But he added that he is aware of Canada's industrial problems and does not want to do anything that would upset Canadian markets.

"Yes, I am in favor of increasing trade between Japan and Canada," he said.

"But Japan now is buying more from Canada than she is selling there. We would like to sell more to Canada in a way that would not conflict with Canadian industry."

All through his stay in Washington, Kishi emphasized Japan's vital need to export to live. In his interview, conducted through an interpreter, Kishi said he would like to increase trade even with Com-

COINCIDENCE?

TALISMAN MISSED PRIEST KILLED

MONTREAL (CP)—In stately Notre Dame Church, landmark of Montreal, a toy airplane has made irregular appearances for the last three or four years beneath the statue of the Blessed Virgin.

Notre Dame is the parish church of the Sulpician Order. Whenever a member of the Sulpicians embarks on an air trip the tiny plane is placed in position for duration of the flight.

The flight plans of Rev. Guy Arbour of St. Johns, Que., a Sulpician returning to his professorship duties at a seminary near Bogota, Colombia, were not known. The toy plane was not beneath the statue.

Father Arbour was among 37 persons killed today in a plane crash at Kingston, Jamaica.

37 Perish, Nine Escape

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP)—A Colombian airliner bound from New York to Colombia buckled its landing gear and exploded in setting down at the Montego Bay airport early today, killing 37 of the 46 persons aboard including a Canadian Roman Catholic priest.

Airliner Toll Reaches 163 In 3 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP)—The plane crash today at Montego Bay, Jamaica, was the fourth for commercial aviation around the world in the first 21 days of 1960.

Three previous accidents took a total of 126 lives bringing the three-week total to 163. The fast-growing series of air disasters began Jan. 6 when a National Airlines plane carried 34 persons to death near Bolivia, N.C. U.S. Congressional investigators expressed belief it was due to a bomb carried aboard by a passenger.

Last Monday a Capital Airlines Viscount plane plunged to the earth near Holdcroft, Va., killing 50.

On Tuesday a Scandinavian Caravelle jet liner crashed on a hill near Ankara, Turkey. Forty-two lives were lost.

A rainstorm was over Jamaica but the moon was shining as the plane headed in for a landing. Witnesses said the left landing gear collapsed as the plane hit the runway and there was a terrific explosion followed by two other blasts.

The plane captain, J. Duque, was among the survivors.

"I am both shocked and grieved at the death of one of my oldest friends and colleagues in government service. He was my colleague for many years, and I knew something of the great value of his service to Canada. He was an

CANADA PAYS TRIBUTE

'He Served His Country Well'

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in Ottawa joined with public men all over Canada in paying tribute to the late T. C. Davis.

Said Mr. Diefenbaker: "I am saddened to learn of the passing of Mr. Davis, who throughout his lifetime made a worthwhile contribution to Canada, first as mayor of Prince Albert, then as a minister in the government of Saskatchewan, during the war years as minister of national war services, and thereafter in the diplomatic service of this country.

Liberal leader Lester Pearson said:

"I am both shocked and grieved at the death of one of my oldest friends and colleagues in government service. He was my colleague for many years, and I knew something of the great value of his service to Canada. He was an

A Fine Anthology

THE Bookmobile did us proud on its last visit to our district. But the pick of the books that I lugged home is "The Bird Watcher's Anthology" by Roger Tory Peterson.

(His "A Field Guide to the Birds" has been so popular, say his publishers, that there's a current quip about Peterson having gone out with more women on Sunday afternoon than any other man in history.)

The Anthology is too bulky for carrying about. It's a book for pleasant evenings, by the fire or for dipping into between domestic chores.

I've been enjoying it immensely for the information in it, for the quality of some of the descriptive writing, and for the general atmosphere and philosophy of the book.

If I had lots of money, I'd give this book to all sorts of people who, like myself, know very little about birds and yet love to watch them in an amateurish way.

I'd like to think that it was in every high school library, and being chosen as a book prize for the end of the academic year. For it's the kind of book that lasts and would give joy throughout a lifetime.

The 85 selections in it are from the writings of great naturalists, bird watchers and explorers. Sutton, Burroughs, Peattie, Huxley, Teale, W. H. Hudson, Audubon, Darwin and Thoreau are there as well as many others.

I enjoyed a most amusing piece by Florence Jacques who, with a group of professional bird watchers, including her husband, spent what she called "a bird-haunted weekend" near Rhinebeck on the Hudson River. The Big Day, as she calls it, consisted of counting birds for 16 solid hours during the big migration in May.

Though she trotted faithfully after the fanatics, she seldom saw the birds the experts saw. "Small things bobbed like popcorn among the twigs, but if every they stopped an instant, it was always behind a leaf."

The other amusing piece, "Birdsmanship" by Bruce Campbell, is divided into sections, "The Birdsmanship Society," "The Birdsmanship in the Field," "The Birdsmanship at Meetings." It delighted me, and I know that it would delight serious bird watchers, too, for the "birdier" they get, the more they can laugh at themselves.

On the more serious side, I enjoyed Julian Huxley's description of hearing a willow wren on the shores of Victoria Nyanza in Central Africa. W. H. Hudson's account of migration on the Pampas, Sigurd Olson's piece about the wild geese, Peterson's "A Night in a Channel Lighthouse" and Robert Porter Allen's "Last of the Louisiana Whoopers."

But to list the selections is useless. They take one to many parts of the world, and back in time to Gilbert White, whose "The Natural History of Selborne" appeared in 1788.

All those who read this book will have their favorite section and their favorite piece. Some who know their bird literature may regret certain omissions. But I think it's a book to watch for certainly, and to buy if possible. For, unlike so many books, it's one to read again and again with interest and delight.

New Drugs

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Of late, I have chatted with some of the brilliant chemists who, in recent years, have given us many of our wonderful new drugs. As these chemists reminded me, the first job is often to take a drug that has been found to have value and then to take it apart and rebuild it, in perhaps a hundred ways, hoping always to strengthen its good qualities and, at the same time, get rid of its few bad ones.

Today, this drug-making game is coming to be such an exact science that an expert can say what part of the molecule must not be changed; if the substance is to be a sedative or an anesthetic or a muscle relaxant. He may also be able to guess what sort of a drug he will get if he adds certain "side chains" to the molecule. Some side chains will strengthen it as a medicine, while others will make it so toxic that it cannot be given to patients.

Every so often these chemists have the joy of finding an entirely new type of chemical that will act, let us say, like morphine, and then for a while they will have high hopes that they can make a powerful pain-killer that won't cause habituation. The sad feature of all this is that sometimes a group of chemists who have worked hopefully on a problem for a few years have to quit, and start all over again, beginning with another substance. Because they went up the wrong tree their years of effort and hundreds of thousands of dollars went for naught.

Along the way the chemists will be turning over the most hopeful of the new chemicals they have made to a team of men and women who will test the substances on mice and rats to see what the "physiologic actions" are. Some drugs will raise blood pressure and some will lower it; some will make a savage rat tame, while some will make a tame rat pitiable and dangerous to handle.

When the testers on small animals find a drug that looks promising it must next be tried out on men and women. Sometimes this process takes two years, during which time able specialists try to make sure that the new drug is not only useful but safe.

720 SQ.-MILE METRO PLANNED BY TORONTO

TORONTO (CP) — A 20-year plan for Metropolitan Toronto which in effect welds Hamilton, Toronto and Oshawa into one economic urban unit was disclosed Wednesday night by the Metro planning board.

Looking forward to 1980, the plan proposes legislation which would place 720 square miles, 26 municipalities and 47 miles of Lake Ontario shoreline under planning control. Based on a predicted population increase to 2,500,000 by 1980, the plan sets out Metro's requirements for housing, schools, transportation, parks and other municipal services for the next 20 years. Population in 1956 was 1,623,000.

Metro Chairman F. G. Gardiner said the plan is the foundation for one of the finest metropolitan areas in the world.

SIR ANTHONY EDEN
... ally lacked spirit

'TEETH PULLED FROM PLAN'

Ike, Dulles Held to Blame In Suez Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden charges that President Eisenhower and the late U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles thwarted a peaceful solution of the 1956 Suez crisis by bacillation, cynicism and an unrealistic appraisal of its importance in relation to the Middle East power balance.

Eden, in excerpts from his memoirs published today in McCall's magazine, conceded that the United States had some problems of its own—including a national election—which affected its handling of the three-month crisis between Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal on July 26, 1956, and the British and French armed intervention at the end of October.

'DISMAL TRAIL'

But that did not mitigate his criticism of the United States government for forcing Britain and France down what he described as a "long and dismal trail of negotiations." During this period, as he related it, the United States failed to exert any financial pressure on Egypt and, through ill-timed public statements, pulled the teeth from every plan which it was hoped would force return of the canal to international control.

"A preacher in the world of politics, it sometimes seemed as if Mr. Dulles had little regard for the consequences of his words..." Eden wrote.

This first instalment of excerpts from Eden's book, to be published this spring, covers Western negotiations and actions over the Suez crisis from the inception of the Aswan dam project, from which Western financial support was withdrawn publicly by Dulles on July 19, 1956, to the point at which Britain and France decided to intervene in Egypt without consulting the United States.

"We knew quite well that once palavers began, no effective action would be possible," Eden wrote.

DECIDED BY U.S.

"The course of the Suez Canal crisis was decided by the American attitude toward it," Eden wrote. "If the United States government had approached this issue in the spirit of an ally, they would have done everything in their power, short of the use of force, to support the nations whose economic security depended upon the freedom of passage through the Suez Canal."

From the first and throughout the crisis, the United States refused to join France, Britain and other Western nations in withholding canal dues from the Egyptian government and was "not helpful about other forms of financial restraint," Eden wrote.

FRENCH VIEWPOINT

Dulles prolonged negotiations, Eden said, with a new proposal put forward even before a first plan of peaceful action, to which he had agreed, had been abandoned.

Eden said the French had "felt that the American administration was not fulfilling its promises, that some of the utterances of the President and Mr. Dulles would make the Russians believe they could back Nasser with impunity, that the delay was allowing Nasser to build up an ever stronger position..."

Engineer Honored

LONDON (AP) — Andre Coyne, 68-year-old French engineer who designed the ill-fated Malpasset dam at Frejus, has been honored by Britain for his work on the Kariba Dam in Africa. A Buckingham Palace spokesman Tuesday said the Queen had made Coyne an honorary commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Raphael Work Found

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union reported that a priceless Raphael painting has been found in the remote Georgian mountain town of Zugdidi. It is described as a small Madonna. It was found in a museum rich in personal belongings of Napoleon I brought there by Prince Achille Murat, a grandson of a Napoleonic marshal.

Britain Warned Soviets

LONDON (CP) — Sir Anthony Eden Wednesday revealed that before the 1956 Suez crisis he personally warned the rulers of Soviet Russia that Britain would fight to defend her Middle East oil interests.

The former prime minister said his warning compelled the Soviets carefully to keep their hands off Britain's prized oil investments.

Eden told of his negotiations with the Soviet leaders, Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita

Khrushchev, when they visited Britain in the spring of 1956. It was then that he warned of Britain's resolve to fight if her oil investments were touched; Khrushchev asked whether that was intended as a threat—because if it was Russia could only reject it.

But Eden retorted it was no threat—merely a statement of intent that Britain did not mean to allow anyone to strangle her to death.

"High wage rates may look awfully good on a negotiated agreement but wouldn't do much good if no one could pay those rates." We hear much about fair wage rates, said Mr. Matthis. But what are they? Admittedly not an economist, he borrowed a definition used by real estate people to define the fair market value of land or other property.

"A fair market value is the price that a willing but not anxious buyer will pay to a willing but not anxious seller." WARRANTS STUDY "I don't know," said Mr. Matthis, "how this could be translated into the normal tense emotional atmosphere characteristic of wage-rate negotiations or to the establishment of a fair wage but perhaps there is something in it worth thinking about."

He praised and paraphrased MP Harold Winch... "higher and higher wages are not the final answer... labor, industry and government must openly and freely collaborate in the interests of keeping our economy sound through reduction of prices."

"Maybe," said Mr. Matthis, "real co-operative collaboration will lead us to the real meaning of a fair wage."

Winnipeg (CP) - Improved export business in Canadian flax featured trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. Trade reports indicated export business had been worked to France, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands and Japan. Most of the business was on a parcel lot scale. France was reported to have taken a larger quantity.

Chicago (AP) - Scattered buying steadied grain futures somewhat today after the market had drifted into general weakness. Export interests were fairly active in corn. The only overseas business reported was a sale of a small amount to the United Kingdom.

Province 'Not Interested' In Buying Black Ball Ferry

The provincial government is "not interested" in a plan to sell Black Ball Lines Ltd. to the B.C. Toll Bridges and Highways Authority, an authoritative government source said today.

But he admitted that on several occasions Capt. Alex Peabody, head of the company, had discussed a possible sale with government officials.

The source said Capt. Peabody suggested either the government buy out Black Ball, or sell the new Sidney-Tsawwassen service to Black Ball.

"We are entering the ferry business only to provide connection between lower Vancouver Island and the mainland," the government source said. "We are doing so because of the decline in CPR service."

(The CPR last year withdrew its night steamers from the Victoria-Vancouver run, reduced winter service to one round trip daily.)

Another reason, the idea of buying Black Ball is distasteful to the government is possibility of labor strife this year as two rival unions battle to represent Black Ball workers.

The government source also said another ferry company, Gulf Island Ferries, had discussed selling out, but the government is not interested.

Black Ball Ferries operates services from Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, to Horseshoe Bay, West Vancouver, and from Horseshoe Bay to Gibson's Landing and other points on the mainland coast.

The company is not to be confused with Black Ball Transport Inc., Seattle, which operates the Victoria-Port Angeles service.

Police Try to Smash Indecent Picture Ring

Saanich Chief Stumped

Pictures of young nude girls in Greater Victoria are being taken by "sexually deviate" photographers, Saanich Police Chief Bert Pearson said today.

The persons taking the pictures use the lure that there will be royalty returns if these pictures are used commercially, he said.

Chief Pearson said the situation here undoubtedly is a part of the illicit photo business that is conducted across the continent, possibly with organized crime at the root of it all.

"But there is often no financial benefit. People taking the pictures are on the sexually deviate side to a degree," he said.

He said there existed a picture "exchange system" between here and other parts of Canada and the U.S.

Nude pictures from other points were sold here, and vice versa.

"But we haven't been able to prove this. However, they are distributed quite freely."

"We have photos in this office."

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

What is your favorite memory?

A reference to happy memories in this column last Tuesday brings an unusual reminiscence from Rebel Mowat, popular Victoria sightseeing driver.

A few years ago Rebel took a party of 15 blind persons, all from the mid-western States, on a tour of this city. He treated them exactly as if they were sighted, giving out with his usual racy commentary on the different places they passed in the coach.

"They were so responsive I almost forgot they were blind," Rebel said. "They smiled and nodded, moving their heads from side to side as if looking at the things I mentioned."

"They had never been to the coast before, so I took them down to the seashore. They were excited by the sound of the waves and dabbled their fingers in the salt water as it washed over the beach."

"Out at Butchart Gardens they discussed the colors of the trees and plants as I described them ... I have never known a happier or more appreciative audience."

A memory of 50 years ago is treasured by Mrs. E. V. Brydon of White Rock, now staying with friends at Brentwood.

In July, 1910, Mrs. Brydon was one of a party of 165 Manitoba teachers who went to Britain on a tour arranged by Major Fred Ney, then secretary of the provincial education department.

It so happens that Major Ney is now visiting Victoria and I put Mrs. Brydon in touch with him. They are having a reunion at the Empress Hotel this afternoon, and would like to hear from any other teachers in this area who took part in the tour of another century ago.

The staff at the Empress Hotel are having a big laugh over a letter which arrived from Oregon today. It was addressed to:

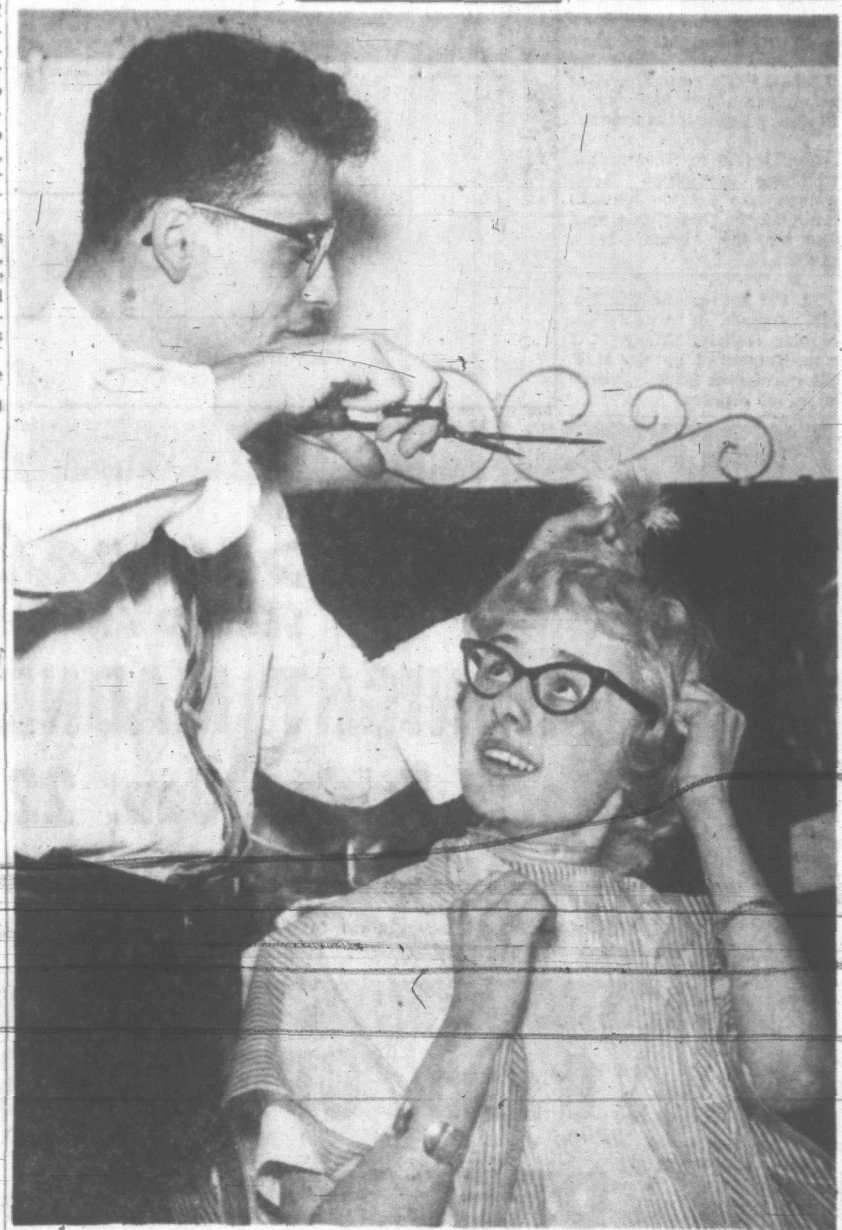

Mr. Charles Chaplin, manager, the Empress Hotel, Inner Harbor, Victoria Island.

"I didn't know I was that funny," laughed Cyril Chapman for whom the letter was intended.

Another Empress anecdote is told in the San Francisco Chronicle by columnist Herb Caen.

With alarming frankness Caen describes a visit to "the ancient hotel" by Ed Golden, a San Francisco insurance salesman, and tells how he was overawed by "its vast old lobby, heavy with silence, its big old chairs occupied by crusty antiquarians regarding the newcomers with rheumy eyes."

"At last," Ed whispered to his wife, "I know why they call it B.C.!"

1,700 Trees To Be Planted Before April

Biggest tree planting program in Victoria's history began this week.

About 1,700 trees will be put into city boulevards by April 1, city parks administrator H. W. Warren said today.

That includes 1,000 going in the James Bay area, 500 in other areas of the city and 200 to replace old or diseased trees.

We're concentrating on the James Bay area this year. We'll do 17 streets—about 20 have been done before—which will just about cover James Bay," he said.

"This is the biggest program we ever have had. Boulevard planting became an important operation after the second World War and it certainly has improved the city's looks tremendously."

The trees are planted about 50 feet apart. Holes are dug mechanically, stakes put in, new topsoil and fertilizer are added to give the trees a good start.

Total time takes about half an hour per tree.

First trees began going in on both sides of Boyd Street in James Bay today.

The various species to be planted this year include: Acacia, red horse chestnut, red maple, cherry, mountain ash, elm, birch, flowering plum and red hawthorne.

'Action Group' For Auditorium

Mayor Percy Scurrell today announced appointment of a five-member auditorium committee equivalent to a civic royal commission.

The committee has a free hand to look into the civic auditorium question and bring back a positive recommendation to city council.

Named to the group are: Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. A. I. Curtis, B.C. Electric vice-president W. C. Mearns, Times music and drama critic Audrey Johnson and Sooke Lake Lumber Co. general manager Newton Cameron.

"This committee has an important job and I hope that all interested citizens' groups will give it the fullest co-operation during its investigations," the mayor said.

FREE HAND

"They have a free hand to investigate the whole auditorium question and bring in any recommendations to council."

Composition of the committee, which took weeks of study in itself, gives representation to city council, the business and cultural communities of the city.

The mayor also indicated that the committee will have free use of the city's engineering staff as technical advisers, led by architect Roderick Clack.

Here's the background of the persons who may be the real architects of the long-sought auditorium:

Ald. Dowell is chairman of the city's other special project committee which is studying the need for a City Hall, including the possibility of a combined auditorium-City Hall development.

Ald. Curtis has more than a decade of public service behind him on both school board and council and was the driving spirit behind construction of the new main firehall.

Mr. Mearns, 50-year-old Victoria native, is a trained business administrator and engineer who has served on a number of organizations promoting community activities.

Mrs. Johnson was a member of the pioneer committee that led to formation of Victoria Art Gallery. She is a graduate musician and has directed stage productions by the Gilbert and Sullivan Society and the hit play "Amahl and the Night Visitors" produced for Christ Church Cathedral.

Mr. Cameron, a 43-year-old lumberman, has years of business experience in Victoria behind him.

The committee will appoint its own chairman and have power to add more members if needed.

"I'm hoping the committee will go right to work and gather all the information that is necessary in order that the public can intelligently assess the desirability of having a civic auditorium," said the mayor.

Prowlers Antics Puzzling

Two Victorians were slightly shaken by the antics of an oddball prowler shortly after 1 a.m.

Mrs. M. Sharp, 1721 Quadra, told police at 1:05 that someone had just walked into her house, went into a room and left with a white blanket.

Twenty minutes later, A. Goodwin, 2312 Wark, phoned police to say a man had just walked into his upstairs room and when asked what he was doing there, the prowler replied:

"Don't worry; it's all right."

At this, Goodwin got out of bed and the visitor ran downstairs, driving off in a small black car.

The man was described as being of medium build, five feet, eight inches tall, and wearing a long black coat.

Police searched both areas without result.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Mrs. J. F. Sutherland, 59, of 2824 Wyndecott, was in "fair" condition today in St. Joseph's Hospital after fast action by a B.C. Telephone operator and Saanich police.

Wednesday the operator received an incoherent call from a woman. It sounded like trouble as the words were garbled.

She traced the call and notified police.

Mrs. Sutherland had placed the call after periods of blackouts and illness.

Police took the sick woman to hospital.

The Victoria Italian Assistance Society had donated $100 towards University of Victoria's fund-raising campaign.

Society president John Bianco said "this is just a start. We're going after more."

The society has 100 members.

E. D. Campbell was elected president of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway Veterans' Association at a recent meeting.

Other officers are: H. B. Nash, first vice-president; G. D. Simmonds, secretary-treasurer; and assistant secretary-treasurer G. P. Gleeson.

Mayor Percy Scurrell today said the city's brief opposing a Pacific Western Airlines bid to take over the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle franchise has been completed and will be sent to Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillips, Defence Minister George Pearkes and Transport Minister George Hees.

Victoria College officials today advised immediate registration by mail for the new night course of 24 films on Canadiana which begins next week. Enrollment in the nine-session course is filling up fast. First meeting will be held Jan. 29 at 8 p.m. in the college and subsequent sessions will follow on various Fridays. Fee is $6.

Five members of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association will be presented with life memberships at a ceremony starting at 8 tonight. They are: W. Draper, John D. Burton, Arthur C. Hopwood, Ralph Evans and Albert Ashman.

Presentations will be made in the clubrooms, 1001 Wharf, by James McGivrin of Vancouver, Dominion president of the association, assisted by William Gorrie, provincial president.

The life memberships are given as a recognition of long service for the unit.

A speeding Saanich police ambulance taking a semi-conscious infant child to hospital was in collision with a private car at Hillside and Quadra at 12:40 p.m.

A second child, granddaughter of F. T. Smith, 3228 Kingsley, driver of the car, was taken to hospital by a city police detective who was passing by. She was identified as Shannon Smith, who was not believed seriously hurt.

Driver of the police patrol car was Const. Norman Baker, who was taking a mother and child to St. Joseph's Hospital. The child had fallen in an accident at home and the mother was desperately trying to keep the youngster awake during the frantic rush to hospital.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual "bosses' night" starting at 7 p.m. Friday in the Crystal Garden.

Main speaker will be John Fisher, executive director, Canadian Tourist Association. He will deal with the future potential of the Canadian tourist industry.

It is expected about 60 employers of Jaycees will be present.

John D., Kishi Discuss Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Ministers Kishi of Japan and Diefenbaker of Canada, accompanied by their foreign ministers, today held what Mr. Diefenbaker described as a general discussion of the international situation.

Less than an hour after his arrival from Washington in a Canadian government plane, Mr. Kishi entered Mr. Diefenbaker's office in the main Parliament Building for preliminary talks.

The meeting lasted about 45 minutes; 15 minutes longer than scheduled. The Canadian Prime Minister told reporters later that they discussed the international situation generally and "the benefits that flow from mutual visits in alleviating world tensions."

Also covered were the Colombo Plan and what Mr. Diefenbaker referred to as "the need to support it and expand it to raise living standards in underdeveloped countries."

Both Canada and Japan are Colombo Plan members.

Another topic was "the desirability of expanding trade."

During an interview at the Japanese Embassy in Washington Wednesday night, Kishi called on Canada to increase purchases of Japanese goods.

But he added that he is aware of Canada's industrial problems and does not want to do anything that would upset Canadian markets.

"Yes, I am in favor of increasing trade between Japan and Canada," he said.

"But Japan now is buying more from Canada than she is selling there. We would like to sell more to Canada in a way that would not conflict with Canadian industry."

All through his stay in Washington, Kishi emphasized Japan's vital need to export to live. In his interview, conducted through an interpreter, Kishi said he would like to increase trade even with Communist countries.

Sahara A-Test Zone Closed Off by France

PARIS (UPI) — France today closed off its Sahara atomic bomb test zone to aerial flight for 12 hours, effective at 12:45 a.m. EST (9:45 PST) Friday.

The announcement heralded the first of several expected trial runs on closing the test zone, but did not necessarily indicate that the actual bomb test itself was about to take place.

Informed sources in Paris had predicted that France will detonate its first atomic device in February, instead of March as originally planned.

The sources said the date was advanced because President Charles de Gaulle wants France to be a full-fledged nuclear power when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visits here March 15. Presently, only the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are members of the "nuclear club."

The test zone is centred near Reggane, 1,000 miles southwest of Algiers in the Sahara Desert of North Africa. It extends over an area more than twice the size of France.

CANADA PAYS TRIBUTE

'He Served His Country Well'

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in Ottawa joined with public men all over Canada in paying tribute to the late T. C. Davis.

Said Mr. Diefenbaker: "I am saddened to learn of the passing of Mr. Davis, who throughout his lifetime made a worthwhile contribution to Canada, first as mayor of Prince Albert, then as a minister in the government of Saskatchewan, during the war years as minister of national war services, and thereafter in the diplomatic service of this country."

Tommy Davis was a good citizen who served his country well."

Former Envoy Leader Here

All Canada today mourned the loss of Hon. Thomas Clayton Davis, a great national figure and resident of Victoria, who died early this morning in Vancouver apparently from a heart attack.

Tributes from far and wide bear testimony to his value to the nation.

Mr. Davis, who was 70 last Sept. 6, died suddenly at the home of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Buckerfield, in Vancouver. He flew there from Victoria Wednesday afternoon and developed an illness en route.

Mrs. Davis, who had remained at their residence at 3605 Caddboro Bay, flew to Vancouver Wednesday night and was with her husband when he died.

It is understood he will be buried in his home town of Prince Albert, Sask.

Mr. Davis had a distinguished career as diplomat, jurist and politician, and his energies and abilities extended over many other fields of public service.

He won distinction as Canadian ambassador to China, West Germany and Japan—his last diplomatic post which he served from June, 1954 to 1957. He then retired to live in Victoria but continued to take an active part in B.C. affairs.

Mr. Davis attended a Canadian Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel Wednesday at which Bruce Hutchison, editor of the Victoria Times, spoke on his recent visit to Japan and Formosa—many details of which had been arranged by the former ambassador.

After the luncheon, Mr. Davis with Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison drove to the airport together. Mr. Davis was on his way to Vancouver to pursue his fund-raising work for the University of Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison flew on to Ottawa.

Mr. Davis was a member of the University of Victoria Building Fund drive and was appointed honorary chairman of the corporations division.

In this capacity he contacted persons and organizations all over Canada with a view to obtaining donations towards the $2,500,000 needed for the conversion of Victoria College into the University of Victoria.

Many of his friends believe that, if he had taken leave more easily after his retirement, he would have lived longer.

Police Find Explosives In Luggage

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Explosives were reported today to have been found in the luggage of a heavily-insured ex-convict who turned up alive after having been listed as dead in a mysterious airliner crash.

Dr. Robert Vernon Spears of Dallas, whose name was on the passenger list of a National Airlines plane which fell into the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 16, was arrested at a Phoenix motel Wednesday, by FBI agents.

The FBI said he had been in the Phoenix area since Nov. 20, staying most of the time with a friend and fellow naturopath.

The Phoenix Gazette reported today that agents found explosives in luggage Spears had at the motel.

Federal authorities in Washington are investigating the possibility the crash may have resulted from a bomb.

Edward Boyle, FBI agent-in-charge, declined to confirm or deny the report of explosives. He said the FBI would have no comment on any phase of its investigation until any formal charges are filed against Spears.

The FBI did confirm, however, that Spears had lived at the home of Dr. William Turska at New River, 30 miles north of Phoenix.

An informed source said Turska became worried after hearing reports of suspicious about the crash and, on the advice of his lawyer, registered.

Spears was seized by two FBI agents as he hurriedly checked out of a Phoenix motel. He was charged with interstate transportation of a stolen car, but the FBI was more interested in his answers to these questions:

What was the 65-year-old naturopath up to when he took out $100,000 in travel insurance? Why was he listed as a passenger on the ill-fated flight?

Missile Covers 7,766 Miles

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union announced today it fired a multi-stage super-rocket 7,766 miles to within a mile and a quarter of its target in the central Pacific testing grounds Wednesday night.

The rocket was launched from an undisclosed site within the vast Soviet land mass, in what the official Soviet Tass news agency said was the first in a series of shots aimed at "realizing space flights toward the planets of the solar system."

The giant missile's last powered stage, travelling at a speed of 16,156 miles an hour, entered "the dense layers of the atmosphere at an altitude of 50 to 60 miles and subsequently disintegrated and partially burned up," the Tass announcement said.

No dimensions of the big rocket were given. Neither did the Tass announcement specify whether the rocket was big enough to carry human beings.

ADENAUER VIOLATED LAW, CHARGES OFFICER

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — A Hamburg police officer swore out a complaint today against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer because he advocated on-the-spot thrashing for anti-semitic hoodlums.

The officer, Horst Schmidt, charged that Adenauer had called publicly for commission of an offense, violating a section of the West German criminal code. The Hamburg prosecutor's office said it would turn the case over to the prosecutor in Bonn the federal capital.

Before authorities can proceed with the case, Parliament must lift Adenauer's immunity as one of its members.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(Times News Services)

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Wallace E. Evans, 23, paced the hospital corridor nervously until a smiling doctor appeared and broke the news: "You are the father of twin boys."

The six-foot, 200-pound father hit the floor in a dead faint. He broke his nose, cut his lip, sprained his back and knocked out a tooth. In a semi-conscious condition he was wheeled away for first aid, then was kept in hospital 24 hours for shock.

The twins and the mother were in fine condition Wednesday. The father, his wife said, is "feeling some better." He'd never fainted before.

LONDON — Charley Holl and's short snooze during a television program led Wednesday to the breakup of two marriages.

It turned out that his wife, Eileen, 36, and their dinner guest, seated together, were not watching TV either.

Holland, 47, testified in divorce court that when he woke up, he found his wife and Edward Chad, 35, holding hands and "looking significantly into each other's eyes."

Mrs. Holland, mother of two sons, confessed she was having an affair with Chad.

Holland was granted a divorce on grounds of misconduct, Chad's 41-year-old wife, Norah, also obtained a decree.

NEWARK, N.J. — Magistrate Joseph F. Walsh fined himself $15 Wednesday night for drying through a red light.

"My wife agrees with you that I was wrong," he told the patrolman who had arrested him.

LONDON — Pretty Mrs. Russell Bennett won a divorce Wednesday after testifying her husband refused to protect her from the advances of his twin brother. Mrs. Bennett, 25, told the court her brother-in-law, Kenneth, 31, repeatedly sought to force his attentions upon her. Mrs. Bennett said once when she complained to her husband about Kenneth, he replied: "He is my brother. I don't mind."

Forest Adviser Chosen

(From Duncan Bureau) Frank G. Rainsford, Victoria, was named Wednesday by North Cowichan municipal council as temporary forestry consultant to undertake a survey of the 9,000-acre municipal forest reserve.

Mr. Rainsford is forestry consultant for the Mayo Lumber Company, council heard. Council plans to undertake the management of its own forest reserve as a tree farm on a sustained-yield basis. The plan prepared by former Reeve C. A. P. Murison over a four-year period.

Craig Installed As AOTS Leader

(From Duncan Bureau) CHEMAINUS — Ed Craig was installed here as president of Chemainus AOTS Club by Bill Owens, Vancouver Island AOTS council secretary.

Also installed were Bill Floyd, vice-president; Wesley Paisley, secretary, and Bert Tully, treasurer.

Visitors from Duncan, Crofton and Ladysmith attended the installation.

Ralph McColl, Nanaimo, district governor of the Toastmasters' Club, was the guest speaker.

... DAVIS

the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal in 1939.

Mr. Davis entered the diplomatic field in 1942 when he was appointed Canadian high commissioner to Australia, a post he held until June, 1946.

In November, 1946, he was named ambassador to China. Four years later he became head of the Canadian mission to the Allied High Command in West Germany.

In 1951, on the resumption of diplomatic relations, he was named the first Canadian ambassador to the government of West Germany. He held that post until his appointment as ambassador to Japan.

Prince Albert was no more than a frontier town when Mr. Davis was born and he grew up among men who remembered fights with the Indians.

He attended Prince Albert schools and St. John's College, Winnipeg, then studied law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. Soon after 1914 he entered law practice in Prince Albert.

Mr. Davis was elected to the Saskatchewan legislature in 1925 and sat as a private member until February 1926 when he entered the cabinet of Premier J. G. Gardiner.

He served successively as municipal affairs minister, provincial secretary and minister in charge of the bureau of labor and industries. In 1927 he became attorney general.

Mr. Davis sat in the Opposition for five years after the Liberal government was defeated in 1929, but became attorney general in 1934 when the Liberals were re-elected.

A tall spruce man with sharp eyes behind rimless spectacles, he sometimes said his hobby was travel. He became an enthusiastic air traveller and in the war years frequently travelled by plane both in Canada and Australia.

He represented Saskatchewan at the Coronation of King George VI in 1937 and his 60,000-word diary of experiences in a tour of the United Kingdom at that time was published by many Canadian newspapers.

Mr. Davis once said he was born a Liberal and would die a Liberal — but he said goodbye to politics when he became a judge. Friends said the strain of the years of drought and depression had damaged his health, but he showed no sign of it in his public life.

He was proud to call himself an Irish-Canadian. His great-grandfather was a surgeon-general of the British Army who went to Ireland on official duties and stayed there. His grandfather was a professor at Trinity College, Dublin, and his father, R. O. Davis, was a pioneer prairie lawyer.

Hearing Set On Re-Zoning

NORTH COWICHAN — A public hearing to consider applications to amend the municipal zoning bylaw will be held Feb. 10 at 8 p.m. in North Cowichan Municipal Hall.

"We have eight applications for rezoning of different areas and I feel a zoning hearing should be held as soon as possible," Reeve D. C. Morton said Wednesday.

An area of North Cowichan's waterfront not specifically zoned is on the north side of Cowichan Bay. The council has heard delegations speaking both for and against rezoning of the land.

Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce had asked previously for North Cowichan's policy on industrial use of foreshore.

Cheminus and Crofton waterfronts are zoned for commercial use, Smith and Maple Bays for recreational use, and Cowichan Bay use has yet to be settled.

Monkey Hurlled 9 Miles Into Space, Survives

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) — A little monkey named "Miss Sam" today survived a 48,900-foot rocket flight in rehearsal for human space travel.

The animal, a female, rode more than nine miles up in a model of the chamber that will carry the first mercury astronaut.

The capsule was separated from a "Little Joe" booster rocket by means of an escape mechanism designed to save the astronaut if something goes wrong at the launching.

With its 7½-pound passenger in a special compartment, the capsule was parachuted to the surface of the sea 12 miles off this Virginia eastern shore island.

Then the capsule was recovered by helicopter.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the animal appeared to be in good condition on the basis of preliminary examination made by remote control while the animal was still inside the capsule.

OPEN CAPSULE LATER

They said that it would be about two or three hours, however, before they could open the capsule and the 125-pound chamber in which the monkey rode.

It was announced that the Little Joe booster rocket which carried the capsule aloft rose to a height of 36,500 feet. At that point a smaller rocket mounted above the capsule was fired. The latter rocket boosted the capsule to its ultimate height of 48,900 feet.

The second rocket was part of the device intended to free an astronaut from the main vehicle in case of trouble.

Space agency officials said that on the basis of preliminary study it appeared the test was completely successful.

The main object of today's test was to test the escape mechanism under rigorous air load conditions.

... ROCKETS

might have missed the target area and been destroyed by Soviet scientists. Qantas airline Captain Robert A. Gray and his crew reported they saw a huge explosion in the area and concluded the rocket had been exploded.

Russia's announcement, however, said the "dummy" (presumably meaning nose cone and instrument capsule) hit the water intact. It said the last powered stage "disintegrated and partially burned up." This might account for the airliner's sighting.

Tass said the launching was the first in a series of shots "under the program of producing a more powerful ballistic multi-stage rocket for orbiting heavy earth satellites and for realizing space flights towards the planets of the solar system."

The Soviet news agency added that more tests were in the making.

The Soviet Union announced originally that it planned a test or tests in the central Pacific area between the Hawaiian and Marshall Islands in the period from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15.

The announcement added: "Tests of powerful ballistic multi-stage rockets will be continued in order to obtain further experimental data. The rockets will fall within the limits of the zone announced in the Tass report Jan. 8.

"The successful launching of a powerful Soviet multi-stage ballistic rocket insures the further advance of Soviet science along the path of mastering cosmic space and studying the planets of the solar system."

The central Pacific area in which the rocket landed is about 45,000 square miles wide and lies about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

It is near the Marshall and Johnston Island areas, a region which has been used by the United States for missile testing also.

B.C. Newsman Dies at 71

VANCOUVER (CP) — William J. "Billy" Finlay, former sports editor of the Vancouver Sun and widely known in curling circles here, died in hospital early today following a heart attack.

Mr. Finlay, 71, had been secretary-manager of the New Westminster Curling Club since his retirement from the Sun about two years ago.

TORY WANTS MORE HOMES FOR AGED

OTTAWA (CP) — John MacLean (PC, Winnipeg North Centre) today proposed special government measures to encourage the construction of homes for the aged.

He put a resolution on the Commons order paper urging amendment of the National Housing Act to facilitate the financing of rental housing projects for the elderly and to make low-rental housing more readily available to them.

Recovered Paintings Placed on Exhibit

VANCOUVER (CP) — An exhibition of stolen paintings opened today at the Vancouver Art Gallery.

The paintings, stolen from the gallery 11 days ago, were recovered Wednesday by police.

"I'm happy as could be that we have got our valuable works back and I think the public should be given an opportunity to see them again immediately," said Curator Dr. William Dale.
